ENGINEER'S DREAM OF 50 YEARS AGO LED TO THE FOUNDING OF OUR COMPANY

Below is pictured the first automobile driven by a propeller shaft and universal joints.

Just a half century ago, in the Spring of 1902, when the steam automobile was at the zenith of its popularity, Clarence Winfred Spicer, then a mechanical engineering student in Sibley College, Cornell University, brought to completion his plan for a car destined to revolutionize the automotive industry, then in its infancy. This idea of his also led to the founding of our company in the year 1904.

Young Mr. Spicer had been devoting himself to a thorough consideration, from an engineering standpoint, of the various questions of design presented by a motor vehicle. College authorities, recognizing the importance of such a study, co-operated by giving the young engineer plenty of extra time to develop his ideas.

At that time it was the standard practice to hang the auto engine from the frame, transmitting the drive to the rear axle through the medium of sprockets and a chain. Spicer, as an engineer, realized that this was an unsatisfactory method for several reasons. The chains were noisy, unbearably so at high speeds. They were difficult to lubricate under the conditions obtaining on a motor car, and thereby were short lived. They were unsightly and subject to more or less frequent breakage caused by unusual shocks or accidents, such as stones getting between the chain and sprocket.

To obviate these objectionable features, Mr. Spicer adopted the idea of a shaft drive in place of the chain and sprockets. This required the designing of suitable universal joints to give the requisite freedom of movement to the shaft, also the protection of these joints against dust and dirt, and some method of keeping them lubricated.

While the principle of the universal joint was an old one, there had been designed, prior to 1902, no universal joint suitable for use in a motor vehicle. A few French cars were being designed for what later came to be known as propeller shaft drives, but the universal joints in all cases were of a crude open type with no especial provisions for lubricant retention or dust exclusion, and none of them proved to be commercially satisfactory.

Mr. Spicer labored at this task in the daytime at the university and at home both at night and during weekends. He first put his design on paper in 1902 and the following year, while still a student at Cornell, built an experimental car from that design. He filed his first application for a patent covering his idea September 2, 1902. (728,779—Casing for Universal Joint) and the patent was issued May 19, 1903. In the Spring of 1904 he left Cornell and went to Plainfield, N. J., to begin manufacturing and selling his product.

While a Student at Cornell University, Clarence Winfred Spicer Drafted a Design for a Universal Joint, Propeller Shaft Driven Car Which Was Destined to Revolutionize the Automotive Industry and Which Led to the Founding of Spicer's.

CRUELTY HEARING —

Irvin W. Romich and Secretary Baker T. Gresh will sign a complaint to be sent Mrs. Trethewey.

The complaint will inform the teacher of the charges against her, and the date for her hearing. Body said.

THE SOLICITOR said the hearing date depends on the availability of a stenographer in the Berks county court of common pleas. He said he is arranging for a stenographer to record the hearing as is required by the State school code.

Body said there are "a few dates" on which the stenographer will not be involved in court work. Court stenographers, he added, are not available at night sometimes because their work extends beyond the adjournment of court.

The school code states the hearing must be held not less than 10 days or more than 15 after the defendant is notified of the hearing date.

Body said the complaint to be mailed Mrs. Trethewey will direct that she "show cause why her contract should not be terminated" because of her alleged cruelty.

BODY RECEIVED the original affidavits attesting to Mrs. Trethewey's alleged cruelty "Wednesday or Thursday."

The affidavits were sworn to by the parents of 12 of Mrs. Trethewey's pupils.

Pottstown Attorney Louis Sager, who voluntarily is representing the parents and 163 residents requesting the teacher's discharge, forwarded the affidavits to Body.

Duplicates of the affidavits were mailed to Gresh. The board legally could not set a date for the hearing until it received the affidavits.

Shown above as they watched James Mathias, a tire builder, at work are some of the 33 Pottstown area clergymen who toured the Firestone Tire and Rubber company plant yesterday. At left, describing Mathias' machine's operation, is the Rev. D. E. Story, the company's public relations director. From his left are the Rev. Fred G. Bangs, pastor of the Royersford First Baptist church; the Rev. Michael A. Rushnock, Maryland rector who sometimes assists at Holy Trinity Catholic church; Mathias; the Rev. John W. Muffley, pastor of the Christian Missionary Alliance church; the Rev. Heywood L. Butler, pastor of the Second Baptist church; the Rev. Edward S. Horn, pastor of St. James Lutheran church; the Rev. E. N. Martin, pastor of the Bethel AME church; the Rev. Stephen J. Vleck, rector of Holy Trinity Catholic church, and William H. Swartwood, production manager of the Firestone, Plastics division. James F. Baird, YMCA general secretary, accompanied the clergymen. The tour began at 11:30 a. m. and ended at 1 p. m. when luncheon was served the participants in the plant cafeteria and Roger S. Firestone Jr., general manager of the plant, and E. T. Handley plant manager, greeted them.

prizes, and 18 ribbon third prizes will be awarded when the judging is completed on The Hill's Dell field, where all the registered cars were guarded last night by borough policemen.

The prizes will be awarded in 18 different classifications. The cars will be classified as to their brakes, type headlights (gas or electric), hand or power cranked, number of cylinders, steam, electric or gas and size of wheels.

The parade will begin at Firestone drive and proceed westward on High street to York, turn north on York, then travel east on King to The Hill.

A police escort will lead the parade. It will be followed by a group of privately owned, modern motorcycles and Bicentennial Queen Mary Lou Smale and her court on a float.

AACA President Marshall will be next in the only 15-passenger 1912 Stanley Mountain Wagon ever manufactured.

His passengers will be Dr. and Mrs. James I. Wendell Sr. (Mrs. Wendell is co-chairman with Ernest V. Hunter of the Bicentennial celebration committee). Gen. Jacob L. Dever, Brig Gen and Mrs. Harry R. Kutz and Col. Fred Kelly.

BEHIND THE Mountain Wagon will be General Pershing's automobile. The general's car will be making its final public appearance before being retired.

The Valley Forge hospital band will be next in line. Instead of marching it will ride on a float. The long string of antique autos, then will lead off with an 1898 Autocar with G. Ralph Sprohl driving and Mrs. Jacob R. Sotter as his passenger.

The Autocar is the second ever constructed by Louis N. Clarke. It still is owned by Clarke.

Besides Clarke, at least two other former manufacturers of some of the autos in the parade will be present. They are Frank Matheson, who built the 1910 Matheson which will be 88th in line, and Lee S. Chadwick, who constructed some 200 cars bearing his name in Pottstown early in the century.

One of Chadwick's cars, a 1907 model, will be driven by its owner, William Pollock, 423 Highland road. It will be No. 137 in the parade.

A 1904 OLDSMOBILE which has crossed the continent twice will be in the line too. It will be No. 57.

W. J. Duryea, Springfield, Mass., vice president of the AACA and editor of its publication, the Antique Automobile, is in town for the parade.

The son of Charles E. Duryea, who manufactured the first American automobile in 1892, he was unable because of business to enter a car in the parade.

With him is Mrs. J. B. Van Sciver Jr., Chestnut Hill, a columnist for the club publication. Her husband will be driving his 1909 Winton in the parade.

22 years of its existence. "I sure miss it," she said. "I wish we could have the old bridge back again."

THE STRUCTURE was closed to vehicular traffic in June, 1930, when the east span began to sag dangerously. It was replaced by a new $400,000 steel and concrete bridge completed 1500 feet downstream.

The Douglassville wooden bridge—an unusual two-lane span, 330 feet long and 29 feet wide—was the only one of its kind in Eastern Pennsylvania, and the second one to be constructed at the site.

Erection of a bridge over the Schuylkill river between the Black Horse and White Horse taverns in Amity township, was first authorized by the State in 1832.

For this purpose, the Douglassville Toll Bridge company was incorporated that year, and the first bridge was erected shortly after the company was formed. However, a great flood which swept the Schuylkill valley in 1850 washed the first bridge away.

Its successor, which was recently dismantled, was erected in November, 1851, using one span of the Lancaster bridge which had floated down the river and was recovered intact near Pottstown.

Mercury old-timers know the rules and send cards from all their trips every year. But for the thousands of new readers who joined the ranks during the past year, the Vacation Column works like this:

1. You just send a scenic postcard to the Vacation Editor, The Mercury, Pottstown, and forget about the chore of sending cards to all your friends.
2. The Mercury will reprint your message along with a reproduction of your card.
3. Comic cards are not eligible for the column. Scenic views are well, and it has been found black and white ones are the best if you can get them.

Just remember to sign the full names and complete addresses of all the members of your party and write clearly.

That's the way to get your message to all the stay-at-homes who know you.

Chicago Restaurant Innocent of Sales Of Horse Meat

CHICAGO, June 13 (AP)—The nationally known Blackhawk restaurant today was found innocent of violating the city's horse meat ordinance.

The city had charged that Health department tests of meat showed that a ground meat sample taken from the Loop restaurant Jan. 26 during the city's horse meat investigation, was found to be horse meat.

A municipal court jury found the Blackhawk and its vice president, Donald Roth, innocent. The city said it would appeal the case. The Blackhawk has broadcast many dance music programs.

Owen McDonnell, Health department inspector, testified he failed to leave part of a meat sample with the restaurant and also failed to label samples for the Health department and the Blackhawk. He said this was because of the rush to press the city's investigation into the multi-million dollar horse meat scandal.

A laboratory director testified for the defense that tests showed the meat from which the sample piece was taken was not horse meat.

A. degree in English; Miss Anderson, who will join the faculty of Pottstown's elementary schools in September, will receive a B. S. degree in elementary education; Schlosser will be awarded a degree as doctor of veterinary medicine; Althouse will get a B. S. degree in economics; and Schinstine, a teacher at Pottstown Senior High school, will receive a master's degree in education degree. Others from this area receiving degrees are John F. Harvey, B. S. in economics; Robert M. Smith, bachelor of laws; and June E. Bergey, a diploma in nursing.

University of Pennsylvania to Graduate 8 From Area

Eight Pottstown area men and women will be graduated from the University of Pennsylvania at Convention hall in Philadelphia Wednesday morning at 10:15 o'clock.

Helen Grace Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Addison L. Allen, 345 New street, Spring City, will receive a B. A. in English.

During her four years at Penn she has been active in extra-curricular activities.

She has been chairman of the women's student union of the university, a group which takes charge of all social functions sponsored by women students.

SHE HAS been secretary of the Panhellenic association, an organization composed of one representative from each of the university's women's fraternities, and she was chairman of the Panhellenic Ball the past year.

In her Senior year she also queen of the Campus Chronicle, a university-wide charity drive donating funds proportionately to all well-known organized charities.

On June 30, she and her sister Carol, a Freshman the past year at the university, who was chosen the best pledge on the campus by the women's fraternities, will sail for Europe for a 75-day itinerary through Holland, Belgium, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Germany, Italy, Austria and France.

The two young women have obtained special permission to visit

Vienna because it is behind the Iron Curtain.

Miss Allen's plans for next Fall are not definite.

CHARLOTTE S. Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Anderson, 834 High street, will get a B.S. degree in elementary education and will join the faculty of one of Pottstown's elementary schools in the next Fall term.

Her school will not be assigned until the latter part of August.

Miss Anderson was active in sports and social activities.

She was class president in her Sophomore year; was a member of the class council in her first three years at the university; elected to the Sphinx and Key, junior women's honor society, and was named to the Athlon organization, an honorary society open to all outstanding athletes who have earned athletic credits through membership in varsity or junior varsity sports.

Miss Anderson was a member of the varsity hockey team in all four years at Penn; she was on the basketball team for three years; and she was a member of the softball team for four years, serving as captain in her Senior year.

THE PAST May 23, Miss Anderson was presented with the University of Pennsylvania's father trophy, an award given "annually to that member of the women's Senior class who best typifies the 'all around' college student; recognizing athletic participation, scholarship and service."

John F. Harvey, husband of Alice Mary, Schwenksville RD 1, will be presented with a B. S. degree in economics.

The couple has three children: Thomas, 6, Daniel, 5, and Jacqueline, 3.

Having served in the Marine Corps during World War II, Harvey attended Penn under the benefit of the G. I. Bill.

He had little time to devote to student activities because of his responsibilities as the head of a family, requiring him to work a full-time job.

HIS SCHEDULE during his Senior year for three days a week was to leave home at 7 a. m. to be in classes at 8. On those three days he got out of classes early enough to hurry home for dinner before going to work on the four-to-midnight shift at the Refractory and Insulation corporation in Port Kennedy.

The other two days a week he would leave his home at the same time but would not return until he had finished work at Port Kennedy.

The Harveys met each other at the Naval hospital in Shoemaker, Calif., while Harvey was a patient at the eye clinic there after being wounded in the invasion of Guam.

Mrs. Harvey was a Wave in the hospital corps at the clinic. Harvey will start working for the Owens-Corning-Glass Fibre company in Kansas City, Kan., in the production department on July 1.

LAWRENCE W. Althouse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson K. Althouse of Birdsboro RD 1, will be awarded a B.S. degree in economics.

Althouse, who intends to pursue a career in the ministry, will attend Albright School of Theology in Reading next September.

An active member of the Pennsylvania players, Althouse often took the parts of clergymen in stage performances.

He was an officer of the Christian association, the Westminster foundation and the Insurance society at the university.

His mother said that her son "has always had the ambition to become a minister" and that she is certain he "has chosen the field of his calling."

William J. Schinstine, Pottstown Senior High school teacher who lives at 254 Prospect street, will receive a master's degree in education degree at the university's commencement exercises.

HE BEGAN teaching at Pottstown Senior High school the past September to acquire the teaching experience necessary to qualify him for his master's degree.

He is taking the place of Arlen Saylor in the instrumental music department of the high school. Saylor's unexpired leave will be terminated in two years.

Most of Schinstine's previous experience has been in instruction on playing musical instruments. In by the St. Antonio Music company of Texas. The march is entitled, "Musicians of Tomorrow."

Raymond Schlosser Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Schlosser, Chester Springs, will receive a doctor of veterinary medicine degree.

Schlosser attended Penn State college from 1945 to 1948 and earned credits to be graduated from Penn State during his first year at the university through an arrangement between the two schools. He received his B. S. in agriculture at Penn State in 1949.

THE NEXT three years at the university qualified him to receive the degree that he is now a candidate for.

Schlosser is an Army veteran of World War II. He was wounded in Germany. Because he was wounded, Schlosser attended school under Public Law 16 of the G. I. Bill entitling him to continue with his education until it is completed, no matter what eligibility time he rates.

After graduation he will take state board examinations before answering offers for employment as a veterinarian in Cleveland and Pottsville.

Schlosser said he wants to get some experience in the field before he opens his own business.

Robert M. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Smith, 205 North Mill street, Birdsboro, will receive a bachelor of laws degree and will take his bar examination July 24 and 25.

THE NEXT three years at the university qualified him to receive the degree that he is now a candidate for.

Smith plans to practice law in Berks county.

A member of the U. S. Army Air Force in World War II, Smith attended Muhlenberg college, receiving his B. A. degree in 1949 before attending the University of Pennsylvania Law school.

June E. Bergey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Bergey, Perkiomenville, will receive a diploma in nursing from the University of Pennsylvania hospital at the university's commencement exercises.

Graduation for her will be in the white uniform and cap of a registered nurse.

Her mother said Miss Bergey "had the idea from a little girl on to be a nurse."

Although her formal graduation will be over and she will not be required to attend classes, Miss Bergey must remain at the hospital until September before she officially becomes a registered nurse.

She has not made plans for next Fall as yet, although she has expressed a desire to enter the public nursing field.

Farmer Learns To Toodle the Sax With Injured Hand

Orlando Grose (left) shows Russell Sime the changes he made in the fingering system of Sime's pride and joy — his saxophone.

By KENNETH ALLEN
(Central Press Correspondent)

ALBERT LEA, Minn., June 13—When you are born with music in your soul it just has to come out, one way or another.

Take the case of Russell Sime, a farmer near here. He's got music in him and not even the loss of two fingers and part of another has stopped him from playing his saxophone.

Farmer Sime taught himself to play the violin when he was 6 years old. When he was 16 years old he became interested in saxophones. At that time there was a regular craze for C-melody saxes. Russell got one and found it to his liking. He's been playing ever since.

Sime says his children play much better than he does—real serious music. La Vonne, 15, plays sax and is piano accompanist for a glee club. Ronald 11, plays a good cornet. Lois, 9, plays the saxophone. Joan, 6, will soon start to play an instrument.

THE SIMES have won many contests as a family orchestra, including an Iowa state Farm bureau contest.

All this is by the way of showing how serious it was when Papa Sime got his right hand caught in a corn picker the past October. He was a half a mile from help and he literally tore off one finger to free himself.

Koje Inspection Plan Called 'America's Guilt'

SAN FRANCISCO, June 13 (AP)—A Peiping broadcast said today Washington's proposal to invite five neutral military leaders to observe the treatment of Red prisoners on Kojie island was a sign of "America's guilt."

A broadcast heard here by the Associated Press said if such neutral observers were sent to Kojie, the camp authorities "reckon to be able to parade carefully selected groups of prisoners for inspection."

President Truman this week endorsed the neutral inspection suggested by Sen. Russell (D-Ga.) and proposed Sweden, Switzerland, India, Pakistan and Indonesia.

During World War II the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan was an essential link in the Allied supply line to the Middle East and a bulwark in the battle for North Africa.

FORMOSA ARMS STEP-UP SOUGHT

Admiral Reports Lag In Military Shipments To Chinese Nationalists

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP)—Adm. Arthur W. Radford said today one reason he came to Washington from his Pacific fleet command was to try to step up "disappointingly slow" deliveries of arms aid to the Chinese Nationalists.

He told a news conference he assumed the lag was attributable to (A) A need for setting up world-wide priorities under the general military aid program, and (B) The fact that overall production has been lagging behind original estimates.

Asked whether he thought that undue preference was being given to arms deliveries to Europe, the admiral replied: "From where I sit, I think the priorities could be readjusted."

He added, however: "I'm not too pessimistic; we're making headway."

RADFORD, Pacific fleet commander based at Pearl Harbor, recently visited Formosa, where Chiang Kai Shek's Nationalist forces took refuge after being driven from the China mainland by Communists. He arrived in Washington Sunday for a periodic series of conferences with Pentagon officials.

Radford told newsmen he foresees now no prospect of a successful military invasion either from Formosa or against it. Asked whether Chiang's forces might attack the mainland, he said, "No, I don't think there is a chance."

And on the other hand he said he did not think a Red attack on the island would be successful, or even that the Communists would make a serious effort at invasion as long as they are tied up in Korea.

Chiang's amphibious force is very small, the admiral said, and the Nationalists need artillery, transportation, communications and other equipment. He said, however, that they are fairly well fixed on small arms and they have "the manpower and excellent potentiality."

Are Russian submarines active in the Far Pacific, he was asked. "Not that I know of," Radford replied. "There have been many reports but we've never been able to verify a single one."

He said he did not believe the Soviets had transferred any submarines to the Chinese Communists.

X-Rays Are Offered At West Chester for Residents of Area

Chester county residents over 15 years of age can have a free chest x-ray taken in West Chester on June 26 or June 27 by the Chester County Tuberculosis and Health society.

This was reported yesterday by Paul H. Grim, supervising principal of North Coventry schools, who was notified of the x-raying by Everett K. Williamson, executive secretary of the society.

A spokesman for the society said the mobile unit will visit several Chester county points, but said that West Chester would be the most convenient for Pottstown area residents of the county.

On the two days, the mobile unit will be in the courthouse from noon until 5 p.m. and from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Children under 15 will be x-rayed only if they have a referral from a physician. Williamson explained that the tuberculosis rate has declined sharply for the under-15 group, while it has risen sharply for the over-15 group.

SEN. DUFF RAPS TAFT BACKERS

Charges They Employed Corrupt Methods in Seeking GOP Nomination

DETROIT, June 13 (AP)—Sen. James Duff, of Pennsylvania, today accused backers of Sen. Robert A. Taft of using "corrupt methods" in seeking the GOP presidential nomination in a blast heralding Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's Flag Day visit here tomorrow.

Speaking on a television program (NBC—We The People), Duff asserted that Taft forces now plan to "bulldoze their candidate through the convention" in Chicago next month where the party nominee will be chosen.

He said if this happens "the American people will be so outraged the campaign will be over at the end of the convention."

Charles King, Michigan manager for the Ohioan's campaign discounted in advance the effect of Eisenhower's visit here tomorrow on his way West.

ASSERTING THAT the five-star general can't shake Taft's hold on a claimed majority of Michigan's 46 convention delegates, King told a reporter:

"It seems to me that to do any good, Eisenhower had to blitz us on his return home and he hasn't done that."

Duff, one of the leaders of the national Eisenhower drive, criticized the selection in Chicago earlier in the week of Walter Hallanan, West Virginia national committeeman, as temporary chairman of the Chicago convention. Duff made no mention of the choice of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, a Taft backer, as keynoter.

Asserting that Hallanan, a Taft delegate, will rule on whether contested delegations at the convention can vote on their own and others' permanent seating, Duff said in a prepared text "that means that as an umpire we'll have a man who is already a player in the game."

"This is a violation of all American principals of fair play and honesty," he said. "The men who made these plans are the architects of disaster for the Republican party."

"It is presumptuous to presume that the Republican party can accuse the Democratic party of corruption if the Republican candidate is nominated by corrupt methods," he declared.

Heading West toward Denver, Eisenhower will arrive here tomorrow morning for two speeches and a round of conferences with Republican convention delegates.

Let Brass Dig It, Senator Declares On Seaway Plan

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP)—Senator Connally (D-Tex.), employing obvious sarcasm, proposed today that top military experts who support the St. Lawrence seaway and power project be allowed to "dig it."

Connally's suggestion came during Senate debate on legislation to authorize U. S. participation with Canada in building the disputed $18-million-dollar project.

Senator Moody (D-Mich.), urging Senate approval of the bill, said all the nation's top military figures favor the proposal on the ground that it is essential to national defense.

"Why don't you let them dig it then?" demanded Connally.

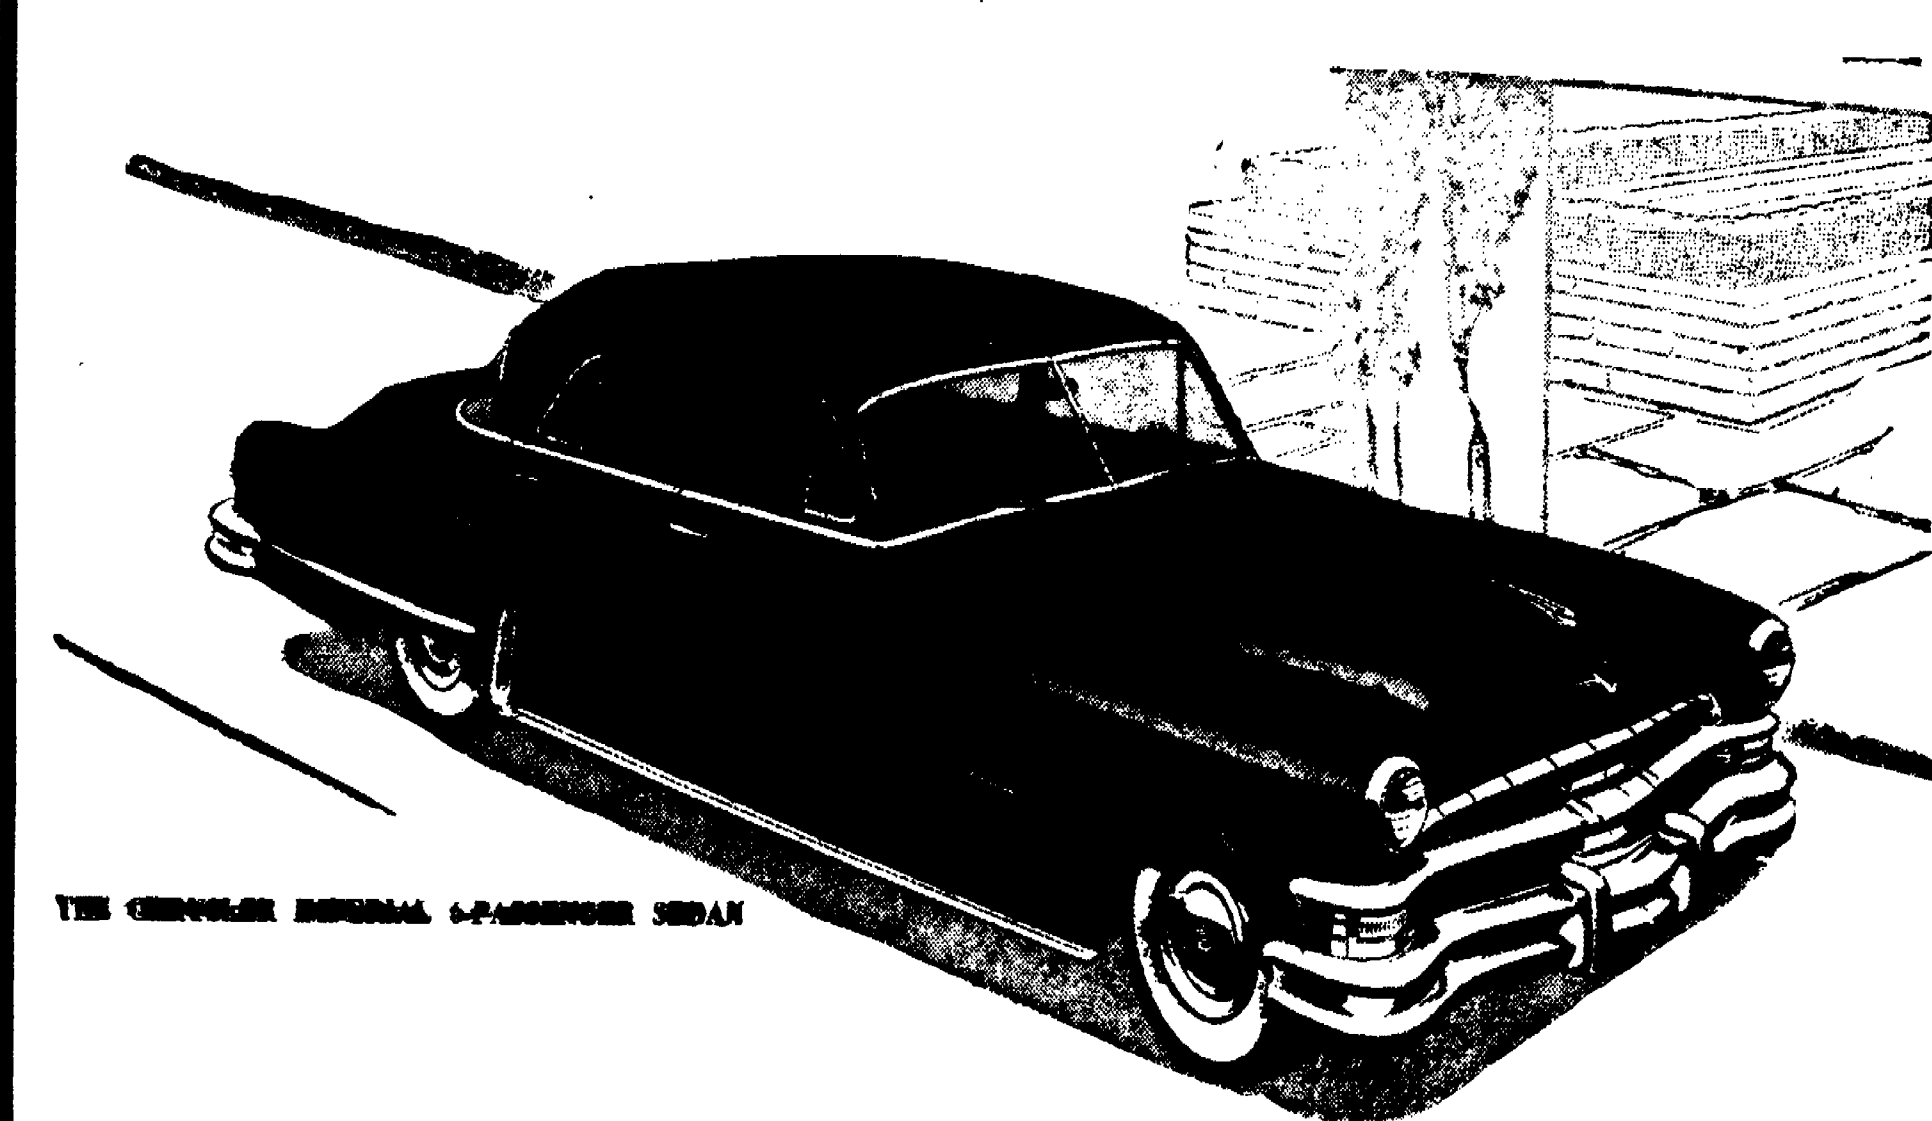

In the general laugh that followed, Senator Lehman (D-Lib-N.Y.), another seaway supporter, arose to say that "my friend from Texas (Connally) always puts on a good show."

LEHMAN SAID that the seaway, instead of costing American taxpayers one billion dollars—as estimated by Connally—wouldn't cost taxpayers "one red cent" because it would be self-liquidating.

Connally, glowering at Lehman, snapped:

"Well, I wouldn't bother about the money if I had as much as the senator from New York (Lehman)."

GOP COMMITTEE SENDS CONTESTS BACK TO STATES

Eleven Are Returned Marking First Action in Ike-Taft Delegate Scrap

WASHINGTON, June 13. (AP)—The Republican National committee taking its first action on the bitter Taft-Eisenhower struggle over southern delegates to the National convention, today sent 11 contests back to states for settlement.

Sen. Robert A. Taft's backers, whose forces generally have tight control in many states, say contests over district delegates should be resolved on the state level. They say a convention rule requiring this should be strictly enforced.

The Gen. Dwight Eisenhower camp plans to fight to carry all contests to the G.O.P. National convention opening in Chicago July 7.

In other fast-breaking developments:

1. Senator Taft's (R-Mass.) Eisenhower camp men manager, denounced Walter S. Hallanan of West Virginia as "intemperate and abusive" and called on him to resign as temporary chairman of the G.O.P. convention.

Hallanan, a Taft supporter, was chosen Tuesday for the convention post where he will rule on question involving disputed delegations.

2. EARLIER HALLANAN angrily protested remarks by Lodge as "reflections upon my integrity" and accused Lodge of being a "spoiled political child."

3. Rep. B. Carroll Reece (R-Tenn.) Taft's southern campaign manager hit out at what he called "almost comic confusion" in the Eisenhower high command in the fight over the temporary chairmanship.

Both Hallanan and Reece blasted away at Lodge for charges aired by the Massachusetts Senator at a news conference in New York yesterday. Among other things, top Eisenhower supporters

Part of European 'Invasion Fleet'

Four ocean liners, harbingers of a record tourist season, make ready to carry 4470 passengers to European tour from New York.

Lodge told newsmen:

"I've heard rumors that Mr. Hallanan will not recognize the Eisenhower spokesmen (at the convention) and that microphones will not work when I want to use them."

Hallanan telegraphed Lodge: "Your statement about 'disputed' rumors that I will not permit you to have the floor at the convention is nothing but a convenient straw man. You are obviously having a political nightmare."

HALLANAN SAID his selection as temporary chairman was by unanimous vote of the 46 members of the committee on arrangements, which included some Eisenhower supporters.

Reece's statement issued from Taft headquarters here, said confusion in the Eisenhower high command is becoming so marked that

French Red Raps Accusers, Cites Communist Triumph

PARIS, June 13. (AP)—Round-faced Jacques Duclos, France's No. 1 Communist, turned on his accusers today and told them Germany's Hermann Goering paid with his life for opposing Communism.

In a defiant mood, Duclos lectured an examining magistrate during the second interrogation since he was arrested May 28 at the height of violent Communist demonstrations against U. S. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway.

He recalled the Reichstag fire of 1934 in Berlin and the subsequent campaign against strategists such as J. Russell Sprague of New York, Harry Darby of Kansas and Ralph Cke of Oregon.

the Communists, then added: "The instigator of the depression which followed in Germany—Marshal Goering—had in the end to die with a rope around his neck."

Duclos' memory of recent history was slightly inaccurate. Goering, sentenced to die by hanging for war crimes, cheated the gallows by taking poison.

Duclos was brought to the Palace of Justice in an ambulance from his cell in Paris' Saint-Pierre He was dressed in a dark suit and carried a sheaf of documents. He was raised as a provisioner by the Federal Security Administration. He was laid down after the 3½-hour questioning. He wore no handcuffs.

MAN HELD FOR JURY

PITTSBURGH, June 13. (AP)—Edward Lee Moore, of Pittsburgh, was held for grand jury action on a murder charge today. He is accused of fatally stabbing Mrs. Sue Swindell, 35, also of Pittsburgh May 19.

GOP Held to Blame For Defeat of Bill On Social Security

WASHINGTON, June 13. (AP)—President Truman today blamed Republicans in Congress for defeating a proposal to boost Social Security payments and said they used "scare words" to do so.

He expressed hope that the House, when it considers the legislation for a second time next week, will approve it.

The White House made public a letter the President wrote to Mrs. Elizabeth Cochran, of Rochester, N. Y., in which he said in part:

"The present insurance payments of the Social Security law are just plain inadequate, and in all fairness to the many aged people who depend on these payments for their very existence they must be raised as quickly as possible."

The White House said Truman's letter was a reply to one from Mrs. Cochran in which she commented "on the inadequacy of old age and survivors' insurance payments under existing Social Security statutes."

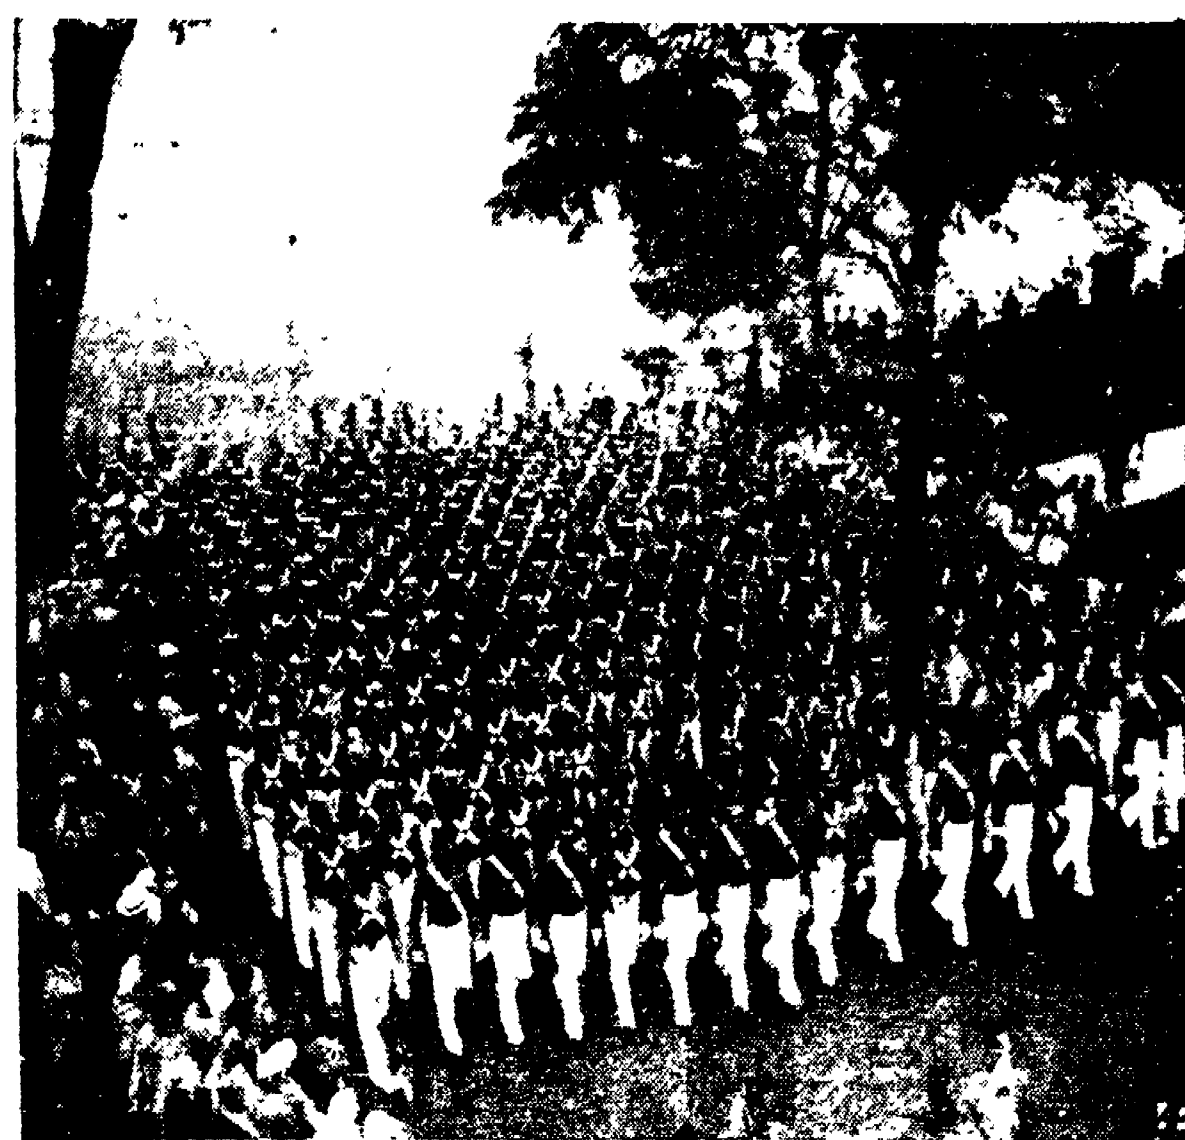

A bill to raise these benefits an estimated 200 million dollars a year came up in the House on May 19 and, while it won approval of a majority of those voting, failed to muster the two-thirds vote the parliamentary situation required for passage.

IT IS DUE to debate again on Monday. The Senate still must act. When it was up originally many Republicans assailed it on the grounds that one provision would open the way for socialized medicine. Such a complaint had been made against it by the American Medical Association (AMA).

The language to which objections were raised was a provision permitting Oscar Ewing to lay down the rules for examining persons who claim total and permanent disability. Republicans protested that this gave Ewing authority over the medical profession. Many GOP members voted against the bill, and it failed of passage. It has now been revised and is now being considered by the House. Democrats say should remove the Republicans' objections.

Three Fliers Die As 2 Planes Collide Over Arizona Home

PHOENIX, Ariz., June 13. (AP)—An F84 Thunderjet and a B26 burning plane set fire to outbuildings west of here today, and three airmen were killed. A fourth parachuted safely.

The flaming wreckage narrowly missed a farm labor camp and a house and store.

The planes were returning to Luke Air Force base after a gunnery practice mission. The pilot of the B26 bailed out and suffered a sprained ankle. Two bodies were found in the wreckage of the B26, a twin-engine plane used to tow targets. The Thunderjet pilot was killed.

The Thunderjet crashed about 70 feet behind a house occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sack. The B26 burning plane set fire to outbuildings, including a barn.

The B26 fell in a field and burned. Parts of the wreckage were scattered over a square mile area.

A Quick Look at Your Neighbor

By MARTIN SALTICH

DR. ELLINOR S. HADRA, of 410 High street, viewed more than the offerings of her patients. She watched a whole nation succumb to a disease called Hitlerism.

Born in Berlin during World War I, her father served as a physician in the Army. After the armistice, the family moved to a small town, Schwerin, about 25 miles from the Baltic sea in the present Russian-occupied zone.

"I grew up in a beautiful country-side area," Dr. Hadra recalls. "And since my father was a doctor and my mother a nurse, there was always plenty of medical talk around. Before long I wanted to become a nurse, and then a doctor."

In order to further her ambition, the determined young lady finished her last two years of public school in Berlin, and then began her university education. During the next five years she studied intently at the Universities of Innsbruck, Rostock, Berlin, Munich and Hamburg.

During her final examinations in 1936, Dr. Hadra had to face the hardest test of all. Anti-Semitism was already widespread in Germany, and the professors told the Jewish students they would have to study by themselves, take the exams alone, and expect merit only on Jewish subjects.

Although this experience was unnerving, she came through with excellent marks. But the authorities refused to present her with a diploma to practice medicine, unless she promised to leave the country.

Reluctant to leave her home-land and family, she saw there was no future in Germany. America, the land of promise attracted her, and in the Fall of 1936 she arrived in New York city, where relatives resided.

It took Dr. Hadra a year to find her first job. Arriving during the depression, she discovered there were many more applicants for internships than there were positions. And she had one strike against her to begin with because of her sex. Many hospitals did not have quarters for both male and female physicians.

Finally, in Fall of 1937, after her credentials had been certified by the State of Pennsylvania, Dr. Hadra began a year's internship at the Women's hospital in Philadelphia.

On a dreary, rainy day in the Fall of 1938, she came to Pottstown hospital to inquire about an opening of a resident physician. She was interviewed by the late Dr. Frederick Bushong, chief of staff.

"The weather and the strangeness of the town made me feel blue," she says, "and I wasn't very enthusiastic about the job, but Dr. Bushong and his colleagues were so interested in me and so friendly, that I soon thought it would be very nice to come here after all."

Dr. Hadra began her Pottstown career on Dec. 1, 1938 ("a terribly icy day") and remained as the first woman resident physician at the hospital until October, 1941.

She then moved back to Philadelphia, but in November, 1944, she accepted an invitation from Dr. Edmund T. Wills to return to Pottstown as his assistant in private practice. In January, 1946, Dr. Hadra began her own practice.

Her hobbies include classical music, art and inspecting museum collections. The doctor's favorite pastime, however, is traveling. Every Summer she takes long automobile trips to the national parks and homes and birthplaces of famous Americans.

WHEN Samuel Konikoff, 519 King street, was a youngster in Russia, he used to wonder what made a locomotive move. Now, at the age of 65, the veteran machinist and inventor says, "That was the beginning. I'm still looking into it."

Konikoff's early curiosity about machinery encouraged him to emigrate to the United States in 1904, when he was 18 years old.

When he arrived in New York city he started a career that was to take him to the major cities of the nation, back to Russia, to Africa, and finally to Pottstown.

Konikoff's first stop was in Pittsburgh, where he worked as a machinist for a year and a half. This was followed by eight years at a printing press company in Chicago, and more than a decade with several motor companies in Detroit.

In the early 1920s, after the Soviet Union had been recognized by the U. S., Konikoff returned to Russia with a group of American workmen to build the first tractor plant in Stalingrad, and a similar plant at Chelyabinsk, a town on the border of Siberia.

On the ship home, Konikoff met an Irish-born lass called Mav Finan, who was returning to America from a visit to her native land. The couple continued seeing each other long after the ship docked, and they were married in 1936.

In the years that followed, Konikoff's curiosity about machinery never slackened, though his knowledge steadily increased. He served two years in Jersey city and two more years in Brooklyn.

In 1938, while visiting friends in the Gilbertsville area, Mr. and Mrs. Konikoff viewed a 65-acre farm that captured their fancy. Tired of city life, they decided to buy it and try their hand at raising chickens. After a year, Konikoff decided to quit when his income dropped.

So he embarked for Africa with 1200 others to construct several British bases. During the journey, the ship's guns were tested. It was discovered the angle was such that if discharged they would backfire. Konikoff, alone among the numerous machinists aboard volunteered to correct the difficulty.

Later he received this citation from the commanding officer: "Samuel Konikoff, a machinist, has been of a great deal of assistance in preparing guns for action aboard this vessel. He did work of a nature that I could not have done at any port of call and with a minimum of equipment and a maximum of skill."

For his efforts didn't remain in Africa long. After two weeks, he contracted malaria, and was returned to the U. S. for treatment. A hospital care he moved to Pottstown and became a machinist with the DeSoto Fire & Ice corporation for the next 15 years. During World War II he served in the Navy machine shops in Washington, D. C.

Presently a machinist at the Phoenix Iron company, Konikoff is now concentrating on several of his inventions. One patented in 1948 is a motorized device which protects an engine from damage from steel objects.

The other, a bit more revolutionary, is a steam boiler he hopes will supply gas on land or in airplanes.

Konikoff expects to remain in Pottstown the rest of his life. "This town is perfect for bigger and better plants," he asserts. "We got the space, the facilities, and the first class mechanics."

4 Delegates, Wives Due in Illinois for Business Club Party

Four delegates of the Pottstown American Business club and their wives are scheduled to arrive at Decatur, Ill., tonight for a party staged for delegates all over the United States before they get down to serious business at the club's national convention in Springfield, Ill.

William Hillegas, president of local ABC, Joseph L. Bowen, secretary and second vice president, John Hoffecker, past president and George Longacre and the delegates' wives squeezed into the little room left in two cars after piling and stuffing luggage for the trip on Thursday morning.

The group will go to Springfield after the party in Decatur where they have reservations at the Leland hotel, convention headquarters.

From Sunday until Wednesday the delegates of the national convention will discuss issues of national concern to the club such as regulations for membership, projects to be carried out by the club and the election of new officers.

Gordon Landreth, of Lancaster representing the Seventh district of the club has been president of the national organization for the past year, eliminating anyone from Pottstown from getting the office. This is due to the policy that the same district cannot install a president for two successive terms. The Pottstown club is in the same district as Lancaster.

ST. LOUIS, June 13 (AP)—This sprawling Mississippi town of 850,000 continued to swelter today in the hottest June since 1914.

Sixteen persons were treated for heat exhaustion and a 61-year-old police jail guard, John M. Scullin, died of a heart condition aggravated by the heat.

The temperature reached 98 yesterday, the hottest June 12 for St. Louis in the 117 years weather records have been kept here. The temperature held in the 90s until midnight and at 6 a. m. St. Louis, with 81, was the hottest spot in the nation.

The Mercury headed for the upper 90s again today. That makes it the ninth straight day temperatures have been 90 or above, equaling the record for the first time in 1914.

Gromyko Is Britain Envoy

LONDON, June 13 (AP)—Russia, in a drastic and puzzling diplomatic rotation program, announced tonight the new Soviet ambassador to Britain is Andrei A. Gromyko, No. 1 deputy foreign minister and former walkout man at the United Nations.

Whether it means a demotion for the one-time boy wonder of Soviet diplomacy was a moot question.

In a terse broadcast heard in London, Russia also announced Georgi Zharubin, who was withdrawn from London, is the new ambassador to Washington.

The announcements followed the assignment Thursday night of Alexander Panyushkin, withdrawn from Washington, as new ambassador to Red China.

THE BROADCAST tonight merely announced the changes and said the supreme council of the U.S.S.R. had relieved Gromyko of his duties as deputy foreign minister. No mention was made of who succeeds him in the foreign office.

Zharubin and Gromyko presumably know more about the Western world than any other officials in the Russian foreign service. Panyushkin, with similar Western experience, also is an old Russian China hand in diplomacy.

The previous ambassador to Peiping, Gen. Nikolai Roschin, is an expert on China alone, with no known Western experience such as Panyushkin and the other two have had.

No date was mentioned for their taking over the embassies in Washington, London and Peiping. The poker-faced Gromyko, most experienced of the three in dealings with the West, previously served in Washington and at the United Nations as the Russian chief delegate.

The big surprise of the broadcast heard in London was Gromyko's new job.

Navy patrol craft and an Air Force crash boat searched throughout the night and two B29s made a final circling air search this morning.

The Superfort made a forced landing in the Pacific in full view of two companion B29s.

Complete Police State Looms; Communists Spread Agents Throughout East Germany

BERLIN, June 13 (AP)—Communist police spread through East Germany today.

Sweeping new measures announced by the Communists themselves and reports filtering into West Berlin combined to show the eastern "Democratic Republic" is fast becoming a complete police state.

Control over the lives of 15,000,000 East Germans is being concentrated in the ministry of State Security, which has an undisclosed number of secret agents and controls 60,000 armed People's Police.

Former Gen. Wilhelm Zaisser, operator whose job had included sending code messages from the Moscow embassy, and charged him with violating the Official Secrets act.

The arrest of Marshall was the fifth post-war case involving a possible breach in Britain's security.

TRUMAN AGAIN ASKS SUPPORT FOR CIVIL RIGHTS

President Also Takes Dig at Ike in Speech At Howard University

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP)—President Truman called anew today for a civil rights program backed by "the full force and power of the Federal government," and took what seemed to be a thinly veiled dig at Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Truman said that experience has proved to be nonsense a contention by "some of our greatest generals" that White and Negro troops could not be fully integrated in the armed forces.

Four years ago, in testimony to a Senate committee, Eisenhower said he favored organizing Negroes in units of no larger than platoon size—40 to 50 men.

Eisenhower, however, spoke out then against complete segregation in the Army, and he said yesterday that after the war he had fought for integration of Negroes, but that the general staff didn't pay much attention.

IN AN address to a graduation day audience at Howard university, a Negro institution, Truman spoke out vigorously against those in both parties who favor either resistance on persuasion or on the states, rather than Federal legislation, to combat racial problems.

"I am not one of those who feel that we can leave these matters up to the states alone, or that we can rely solely on the efforts of men of good will," he said.

His call for all-out Federal legislation was at variance with the stands of many of the presidential aspirants in both parties. Of those who have substantial numbers of delegate votes, only Democrat W. Averell Harriman has come out strongly for Truman's civil rights program.

CIO Asks Congress To Back WSB Plan

PITTSBURGH, June 13 (AP)—The CIO United Steelworkers asked Congress today to make the steel industry accept recommendations of the Wage Stabilization board to end the steel strike.

President Philip Murray in a statement at the conclusion of a day-long strike strategy session with his top policy-makers promised union help in producing vital military steel.

The statement also said the USW is ready to bargain collectively but will never "surrender our just demands."

The statement added: "We, however, believe it to be essential that the Congress of the United States require the steel industry to manifest its loyalty to our country by adherence to the requirements of our nation by a wholesome acceptance of the recommendations of the Wage Stabilization board."

EARLIER, MURRAY said the strike has become a political football. In his opening address to USW governing bodies he listed four issues—the union shop among them—which he said were the main stumbling blocks holding up settlement.

Murray at a news conference following the session accused the industry of failing to expand facilities needed to produce ammunition. He said a critical shortage exists in artillery and other types of ammunition.

In Washington President Truman met with his cabinet to discuss the 12-day old crippling steel strike but officials said nothing was decided.

The USW statement declared the union was forced to strike "by a profit hungry industry" and vowed to stay out "until our cause is won."

STEEL LEADERS had no comment on the union's statement.

Vice President John A. Stephens of U. S. Steel corporation, the industry's co-ordinator in the steel dispute, said only:

"I have no comment and I won't have any."

Murray said "a great deal of sentiment was expressed" at the union meeting against possible use of the Taft-Hartley act in the controversy.

But he refused to answer any questions designed to show whether the Steelworkers would refuse to work under a court order which the Government might obtain by invoking that law's emergency provisions.

The labor chieftain said he has conferred with the heads of several smaller steel companies on settlement terms since the last contract negotiations collapsed in Washington.

BUT HE declined to name them or speculate on the possibility of more new pacts being signed on the basis of the WSB recommendations.

He said the big companies had formed what he called a coalition to keep the industry united.

"I don't know if the smaller companies can hold out against the coalition," Murray said.

A considerable portion of the union session was devoted to ways and means of producing defense vital steel during the strike.

2d Hill Is Seized By U. S. Troops

SEOUL, Saturday, June 14 (AP)—U. S. troops and tanks Friday seized a second hill on the western front after smashing a counterattack by about 750 Chinese Reds in the seventh day of savage battle.

The U. S. Eighth Army communiqué said Chinese casualties were heavy. It reported signs the Red resistance was weakening after the long and bruising struggle in the hills west of Chorwon, some 50 miles north of Seoul.

The U. S. 45th division waged the battle for dominating hills, which produced the fiercest fighting since the twilight war began in November after Korean armistice negotiators agreed on a cease-fire line.

Enemy probes were reported on the east-central front near Kumson, and Allied tanks kept up the fast pace with raids in the center southeast of Pyongyang.

Heaviest fighting, however, was west of Chorwon, where the 45th, the former Oklahoma National Guard, bore the brunt of battle.

Ike Would Clean out Democrats if Elected

GETTYSBURG, June 13 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said today if elected president he would clean out the entire Democratic administration in Washington, including the State department.

"When I say we need a new administration, I mean in all its parts," Eisenhower told Pennsylvania Republican delegates to the National convention at a question and answer session here.

Eisenhower made the statement when a delegate asked him if he would pay particular attention to the operation of the State department should he be elected president.

He also said his backers got him "into a lot of trouble" in pushing him for the GOP presidential nomination.

THE SMILING five-star retired general passed out the remark jovially while chatting with some members of the big Pennsylvania delegation to the GOP National convention.

Eisenhower came here by plane and automobile from New York to talk politics on his nearby farm with the Keystone State delegates and their alternates.

Stopping off at Lincoln square at Gettysburg before going to the farm, Eisenhower told the assembled townspeople he expected to return to Gettysburg upon his retirement from active life "and rock out my last days on a comfortable porch."

During a shoulder-rubbing picnic on the 180-acre farm near the Gettysburg battlefield, Eisenhower remarked to one delegate:

"They've got me into a lot of trouble, haven't they?" referring to his backers. He did not elaborate.

THE GENERAL was in shirt sleeves as he toured the farm to inspect the fields of wheat, oats and corn with the delegates and accompanying newsmen.

He kept up a rapid fire of talk on points of interest on the farm. Of a Guernsey yearling bull, Eisenhower remarked:

"It's one of my proudest possessions."

Corporations Hit

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP)—James B. Carey of the CIO said today that big American corporations are supporting a Red-dominated union and thus "have committed something very close to treason."

He referred to the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers union (UE).

Carey is president of a rival group, the CIO International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers.

He appeared before a Senate labor subcommittee which is studying the question of whether legislation is needed to restrict the operation of Communist-dominated unions in plants doing secret defense work.

Widow, 14, Left With Boys Is Fearful

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 13 (AP)—A 14-year-old girl, widowed by typhoid fever, and left with two stepsons, one 11-years-old, admitted today that she is bewildered.

"I don't know what to do now," said slender, blond Mrs. Lela Josephine Franklin, child-bride of James Franklin, 31-year-old Tunica county, Miss., tenant farmer who died here yesterday.

"I just haven't had time to think," the young widow said in a whisper, "it all happened so quick. I just don't know what we're going to do."

Whether she and the two boys, Bobby Joe, 11, and Wayne, 8, stay as tenants on the little Texas community farm owned by Clay Taylor depends "on what I can work out with Mr. Taylor."

Fine Points of Old Auto Discussed

William Pollock, Roger S. Firestone Jr., general manager of the Firestone Tire and Rubber company's Pottstown plant, and Gen. Jacob L. Devers, U. S. A., (left to right) discuss the merits of the 1902 Holsman in which Firestone and Devers sit. The car, bearing a Virginia license plate and owned by D. S. Baker, will be among the more than 200 antique automobiles to travel down High and King streets this afternoon in what T. Clarence Marshall, President of the Antique Automobile club of America, has forecast will be the best Spring meet of the club in the organization's history. Owners of 250 autos have signified their intention to participate in the parade. The largest number of autos ever to drive in a Spring meet parade was 125 in Detroit a few years ago. (Another picture on page 30).

CARS ARRIVE —

Club members who had not seen each other since the last meet in which they participated together whacked each other's back and launched into lengthy recounts of what each had been doing lately in the antique auto line.

HUNTER and his committee were everywhere at once, showering the registrants with service and smiles. Owners completing their registration early drove around town and were met with friendly greetings from many Pottstonians.

At 1 p.m. about 350 of the owners and members of their families began a 4-hour tour of five industrial plants. From 1 to 2 p.m. they watched Doehler-Jarvis corporation employees manufacturing automobile die castings and Neapco Products incorporated workers turning out universal joints.

From 2 to 3 o'clock they saw drive shafts and more universal joints being made at the Spicer Manufacturing division of the Dana Corporation plant, then toured the U. S. Axle company, where another integral part of today's automobile, the axle, is manufactured.

At 4 o'clock the antique owners witnessed tires for modern and antique autos being made at the Firestone Tire and Rubber company plant, then at 6 o'clock, sat down to a turkey dinner in the Firestone cafeteria for which the company picked up the tab.

Since the cafeteria could accommodate only 25 persons, about 15 had to move to the Brookside and Mrs. Harry R. Kutz, Gen.

quicker the approval. He said, "The general public will be getting little benefit from it (the borough airport) in the near future. This is once that those who are interested will have an opportunity to make use of it."

Committee members agreed with him that there should be a specific ban against the sponsors making any direct admission charge.

Kohler also said he felt that council had not been consulted sufficiently by the show's sponsors.

W. E. Well, and John Bayco, co-managers of the airport, reported that the Pilot club, which will help stage the show under Minute Men sponsorship, has promised council to make arrangements to protect the borough from liability.

Without O'Dell, committee chairman, noted that there will be expense attached to providing parking.

He brought the approved minimum parking charge up 15 cents over Kohler's original suggestion of 35 cents.

Charles "Pete" Grubb repeated Jacob L. Devers, Lt. Gov. Lloyd H. Wood, Burgess William A. Grifflin and Dr. and Mrs. James L. Wendell Sr. Mrs. Wendell is co-chairman with Homer of the Bicentennial celebration committee.

liberating over the necessity of consolidating with either Limerick or Pottstown to solve their needs for high school education.

TO DATE there has been no official word from the Pottstown school board authorities concerning the once-proposed merger which would alleviate the high tuition rates now paid to Pottstown for use of its high school.

Although Pottstown school board is still willing to admit Lower Pottsgrove pupils, it has refused Limerick any further use of its education facilities because of overcrowded conditions which exist here.

This situation led to two earlier meetings where consolidation with Limerick was considered as a possible solution.

It was decided that after a board agreement is reached, the problem will be presented to the taxpayers at a meeting where the issue will be decided.

The board also discussed buying three used school buses from William Hipple. The bid submitted by him asked $10,500 for the three vehicles.

All five members of the board were present at last night's meeting.

YOUR GEM STORY FOR TODAY

Today, it's too hot to talk of Gemstones, but it's not too hot to talk about Baseball, our national pastime. And whenever a Pottsonian even thinks of the sport, his attention immediately turns to Bobby Shantz.

Now most of you know that Bobby is the winningest pitcher in Baseball today and he is a native of Pottstown, a product of Pottstown High School. It's only fitting that July 18 is to be set aside as Bobby Shantz Night at Shibe Park. That night, the town is traveling en masse to Philadelphia to pay homage to our contribution to Big League Baseball.

Pottstown will contribute appropriate gifts for the "mighty mite" and for the reason the Shantz Committee need your contribution.

We hope you realize that recognition this home town boy is bringing to Pottstown. We also hope you realize all the obstacles that Bobby had to overcome to bring the national attention to Pottstown. He is a size should have been a great impediment to his success in Big League Baseball, but through his persistence and constant practice, he overcame the handicap and not only became a Major League Ball Player but became one of the great stars and drawing cards.

So for this reason we could honor Bobby Shantz, and for the same reason we hope the Shantz Committee will accept our personal check as a donation to this event. Let's hope others will follow suit.

See you next Saturday.

Plane Loses Blast Fatal to Mosquitoes

The airplane that gave the old Schuylkill canal its first over-all spraying in history yesterday morning let go with a typical stream of DDD (DDT's first cousin) aimed at exterminating the mosquitoes that have been thriving in the almost motionless water in 30 miles of canal. The headquarters for the entire operation was Pottstown Municipal airport. The State Department of Forests and Waters paid for the spraying.

CANAL SPRAYED —

canal is on privately-owned land, or where the canal makes a temporary junction with the river.

Major Russell W. Gies, Bowling Green, Delaware county, consultant on insect control for the health department, said the spraying was a result of complaints from residents living near the canal from Norristown to Reading.

One of the worst spots, he said, had been the Kenilworth - South Pottstown section, although small parts of the canal had been included in previous years' spraying of Kenilworth by a community group.

Major Gies said the pilot, William Hoffman, Hatboro, had been forced to spray one small part of the Kenilworth-South Pottstown stretch from too great a height yesterday, because of wind and high-tension lines.

This spot will be redone today, weather permitting. Hoffman also will finish up the remaining stretches in the Reading section.

ALTOGETHER, approximately 500 acres of mosquito-breeding water and banks will be sprayed. Major Gies said stretches where the canal joined the river did not require spraying because the river's current prevents heavy mosquito breeding.

Although the DDD (brand name, Rhothane) is sure death for mosquitoes, Major Gies said, it will not kill such beneficial insects as bees.

A preliminary survey of the section was made a week ago by a group that included S. W. Sword, resident engineer, Department of Forests and Waters, and Frank Hare, manager of Lehigh Air service, Philadelphia, which has done community spraying in the area for several years and which handled the canal project.

The spraying began near Oaks. The first stretch ended near Black Rock dam.

The second stretch began near the new Philadelphia Electric company plant and continued through Royersford and Spring City to Vincent dam near Linfield.

Picking up two miles farther west, the airplane sprayed Parkerford, Kenilworth and South Pottstown. The airplane skipped a privately-owned stretch near Laurel Locks farms, then picked up near Douglassville and continued to Birdsboro.

With Major Gies, Hoffman and Hare at the airport at dawn yesterday was W. E. "Bert" Wells, co-manager of the airport.

The group had been set for spraying Thursday, but the wind was too strong for effective spraying.

Both the flippers of whales and the wings of bats have internal structure, indicating that they once had the five-digit form found in many mammals and illustrated by the hands and feet of men.

laughs often and with more vigor second child, 8-year-old Karen and volume than the average 40-year-old displays.

There's beauty inside as well as outside the modest home where she's lived alone those 26 years. She has a large collection of paintings and an almost unique, 70-year-old collection of sheet music, built under a glass bell.

Many of the paintings were by friends or relatives including the prize exhibit, a large painting by her father, William F. Vache.

MRS. HAYES is interested in all the fine arts, but her own talent is confined to music. In younger years, she played the pipe organ for silent movies, and has often played for PTA, church and musical groups.

To illustrate Mrs. Hayes sat down briskly at the old baby grand living room in her parlor and with her 79-year-old fingers rattled off Chopin's "Minute Waltz," which moves at machine-gun tempo.

Mrs. Hayes said she discovered that the clover patch was lucky 3 years ago. Since then, she's directed dozens of luck-hunting friends to the patch. No one has ever been disappointed.

Although Mrs. Hayes enjoys making people feel lucky by finding one of the four-leaf clovers, she is not what you would call superstitious.

For people worried about Friday the 13th, she commented: "If ill luck comes to you, it comes to you from your own thinking."

Mrs. Hayes was a lifelong Philadelphian until she bought the Parkerford home 26 years ago. 15 years before she retired as a kindergarten teacher in Philadelphia schools, the job she held for 40 years.

Her husband was John G. Hayes, she never lived there, has been ill. Her daughter, Mrs. Horace Ed-

CAPT. COX —

The "Arms" citadel in Pottstown was on the first floor of a small, old building at 288 King street when Capt. and Mrs. Cox came here.

The past June the "Arms" dedicated a new $100,000 citadel at 101 S. 3d st.

The "Arms" also purchased a headquarters home for them at 293 Diamond street.

THE POTTSTOWN citadel has for the past five years led the southeastern Pennsylvania division in Sunday school attendance.

To Pottstown's volunteer firemen Capt. Cox was best known for his prompt arrival at virtually all sizeable fires in the area.

Firemen presented him with a fireman's helmet as protection while he carried his hot coffee dispenser to the hosemen in the front lines.

As soon as the ashes cooled, Capt. Cox was climbing around the ruins, to learn exactly what the fire victims needed in the way of emergency food, clothing or shelter.

He had left standing orders with firemen and police to notify him promptly of any emergency, regardless of the hour.

As for making information public on why passports are rejected, McCarran said:

"No greater service could be rendered the Kremlin than to publish disclose the security information of our intelligence agencies, respecting the identity and operations of the Communist conspiracy in the United States."

McCarran's conclusion:

"If passports have been denied in certain cases in which the junior Senator from Oregon (Morse) is interested, then the embarrassment is his and not the passport division of the Department of State."

Passport Division Is Defended Against Charge of Tyranny

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP)—Sen. McCarran (D-Nev.) today defended the passport division of the State department and its chief, Mr. Nathan B. Shipler, against charges of tyrannical action.

Mr. Shipler should be commended for efficiency, courtesy and a sense of duty, McCarran told the Senate.

McCarran's defense was in reply to a speech made the past week by Sen. Morse (R-Ore.). Morse said the passport division operates so secretly that no one—including a U. S. senator—can find out why an application for a passport has been rejected.

Furthermore, Morse said anyone who has been turned down has no way to ask for a review. Morse jumped on what he called the passport division's "arbitrary, capricious and capricious exercise of discretion."

McCarran SAID that in his opinion vigilance over passports should be increased, not weakened. He said Communist couriers, by using passports, can carry information abroad.

As for making information public on why passports are rejected, McCarran said:

TAFT EXPECTS TO RUN AGAINST HARRY TRUMAN

Personal Visit Is Paid
To Wilmington to Adjudge
Del. Delegation's Voting

WILMINGTON, Del., June 13 (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft — conferring with Delaware's 12-member GOP convention delegation — indicated today he expects to run against President Truman in next November's general election.

Taft came to Wilmington today personally to sound out the manner in which the Delaware delegation will vote at the Chicago convention next month.

Eleven of the State's 12 delegates either rode down to Wilmington from New York with him or were waiting at the elm-shaded farm estate of former U.S. Sen. C. Douglass Buck. One delegate, John O. Hopkins Sr., was unable to attend because of illness. Hopkins is an avowed supporter of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

While Taft was talking political shop with the Delaware group amid the quiet surroundings of Buck's farm, Buena Vista, Eisenhower was shaking hands with the bulk of the 79-member Pennsylvania delegation on his farm near the historic battlefield at Gettysburg, Pa., in the hubbub of a country fair-like atmosphere.

TAFT'S VISIT to Delaware had no apparent immediate effect on the convention convictions of the state's delegates.

Prior to the closed door Taft delegation session in the paneled study of Buena Vista, the delegation's chairman, Clair J. Killoran, said he expected his group to go to Chicago with seven votes for Eisenhower, two for Taft and three uncommitted, possibly eight for Eisenhower and four for Taft. After the meeting with Taft—last night nearly an hour—he said he could see no reason to change his estimate.

The leader of the pro-Taft group in the delegation, State Sen. Thomas Peeney also said he could see no change in his pre-meeting lineup of seven votes for the Ohio Senators and five for Eisenhower.

The latest Associated Press poll of the delegation showed six for Taft, four for Eisenhower and two uncommitted.

TAFT, DISPLAYING a confident smile, refused comment on reports published today that he would enter the convention balloting with 588 votes on the first ballot.

Asked whether he believed he would have enough votes to win the nomination on the first ballot, Taft said "I won't say that, but I'll have enough to win the nomination."

He also declined comment on reports that Pennsylvania's Gov. John S. Fine was attempting to form a three-state bloc of undecided votes, involving the delegations from Pennsylvania, Maryland and Michigan.

Taft said it was entirely possible such a movement was underway, but he refused to say whether he knew which GOP presidential candidate might reap the benefit.

March in Protest

A long line of marchers moves through Capetown, South Africa, in protest against the "High Court of Parliament Bill." The procession was headed by members of Parliament, of the Provincial Council, a group of generals, and 35 lawyers from the Temple Chambers. The issue, a racial one, has been the course of heated controversy.

New Television Device Called 'Walkie-Lookie'

NEW YORK, June 13 (AP)—The political conventions at Chicago this Summer are expected to afford a job for a new television device. It's a "walkie-lookie," next step up from the walkie-talkie.

Weighing only 45 pounds, it is compact enough for one man to carry around and operate, much as he would an ordinary camera.

The pictures being taken would be fed into the regular TV channels for relay. Use of this gadget on the convention floor would enable the camera to get into spots impracticable for the larger and more cumbersome units.

The Anglo-Egyptian Sudan is all but surrounded by Egypt, Libya, French Equatorial Africa, the Belgian Congo, British-protected Uganda and Kenya, Ethiopia and Eritrea.

Attack Forces to Launch Air, Sea Assaults In West's Biggest Exercise Since War

LONDON, Saturday, June 14 (AP)—

Attack forces will launch mock air and sea assaults against Allied convoys and Naval bases next week in the West's biggest combined military exercise since the war. The rival forces are the Reds and the blues.

A British admiralty announcement said today more than 250 warships and Naval auxiliaries and about 400 warplanes of nine NATO nations will take part in exercise "Castanets."

The emphasis on convoy defense may indicate Allied concern over Russia's large submarine fleet and its possible threat to Britain's sea lifeline.

Zero hour is 8 a. m. (GMT) Wednesday. The exercise is scheduled to last eight days and will range throughout the eastern Atlantic, English channel and North WARTIME CONDITIONS will be simulated as nearly as possible. The defense of Allied convoys will be thoroughly tested. In addition, the seaward defense and anti-aircraft protection of Naval bases in Britain will be tested.

The Red forces will attack shipping, "with all the known weapons," the announcement said. Included will be submarines and E-boats for torpedo attacks, surface ships, aircraft and submarines for mine-laying and strike aircraft, both land and carrier based.

The blue defenders will hit back with large air and sea striking forces. Warships and aircraft also will patrol the eleven convoy routes to be used.

It will be NATO's first large-scale test of combined air and sea forces and will give officers an opportunity of judging how well they work together.

SEVEN NATO nations will furnish warships: Britain, France, The Netherlands, Denmark, Norway, Portugal and Canada. The United States and Belgium will supply a limited number of aircraft.

Naval forces will include one capital ship, five aircraft carriers, three cruisers, three minelayers, 15 destroyers and escorts, 20 submarines and more than 70 minesweepers and many smaller craft. Aircraft will include bombers, reconnaissance planes and the latest jet fighters.

More than 100 warships and Naval auxiliaries will act as ships in convoy. Independent ship owners throughout New York state in May, Laurence Todd, State department will cooperate, too. Fast freighters except for "depressed" industries passing through the area will fly such as apparel, shoes and small agency special signals subjecting them to metal trades which continues to be soft.

Experts Are Mobilized Against Germ Warfare

ALBANY, June 13 (AP)—New York state is mobilizing animal, crop and insect experts under a civil defense program to protect food and livestock against possible germ warfare.

Measures have been taken to spot and stamp out animal and plant diseases that might result from enemy biological warfare attacks.

The program objectives include investigation and research, immediate surveying of newly reported outbreaks of plant or animal disease, and the development of special methods of detection.

BUSINESS IS GOOD

NEW YORK, June 13 (AP)—Business was at a relatively high level in New York state in May, Laurence Todd, State department reporter for Russia's Tass News, passing through the area will fly such as apparel, shoes and small agency special signals subjecting them to metal trades which continues to be soft.

Malayan Rubber Planters Still Living in Danger

KUALA KUMPUR, June 13 (AP)—The leading British rubber plant- ing body in Malaya declares that despite countrywide resettlement of squatters in areas free of Communist terrorists, there is no improvement in the situation.

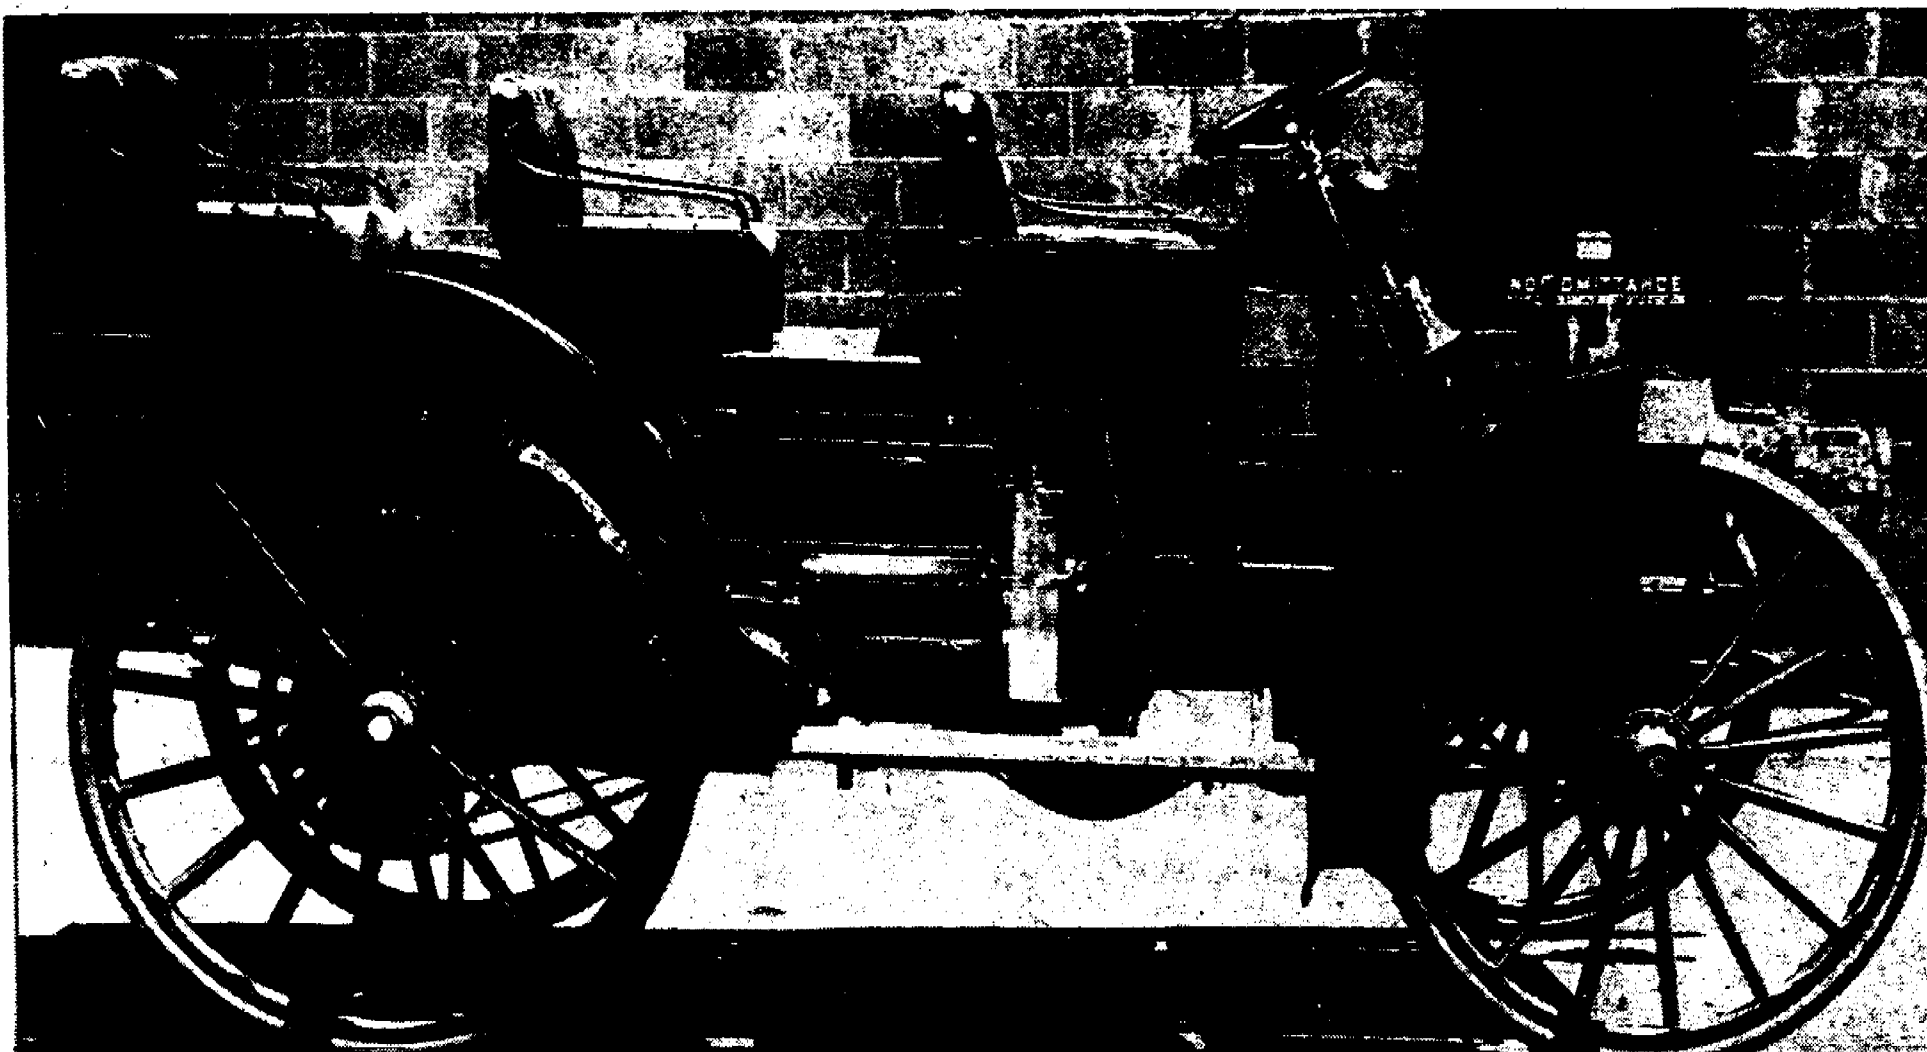

The United Planting association of Malaya, in its report for 1951, said planters still lived in continual danger and could not relax security precautions.

Without the "steadfastness and courage" of the planters, said the report, "the situation in the rural areas would have rapidly deteriorated to a state of savagery and chaos."

3 Rob Union of $13,000, But Miss $15,000

PITTSBURGH, June 13 (AP)—Three gunmen robbed the CIO Brewery Workers headquarters of nearly $13,000 today but missed another $15,000 earmarked for payment to striking brewery workers.

The gunmen forced George Muehlbauer, 35, secretary of Local 22, to open the safe. They accosted Muehlbauer as he opened the office.

After taking the money, the bandits bound and gagged the secretary and left him on the office floor. He was freed a short time later by another employee.

Muehlbauer quoted one of the bandits as saying:

"Open that safe if you don't want to get hurt."

Controls Relaxation Postponed by NPA Due to Steel Strike

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP)—Because of the steel strike, the National Production Authority has decided to postpone its planned relaxation of controls over home, amusement, school, road and highway construction, it was learned today.

It may also curtail even the use of steel presently permitted unless there are signs of a break in the 12-day strike.

NPA was mum officially on the deferment, but the decision was reported by informed persons.

NPA announced the planned relaxations on May 15, to be effective July 1. It said then that it would:

1. Lift the ban on erection of amusement and recreation places including theaters, night clubs, baseball parks, athletic fields and stadiums.
2. Permit use of up to 1500

RUSKIN, Fla., June 13 (AP) — A tomato grower wounded his wife, killed his dog and then shot himself to death after talking to two lawyers and a preacher.

After shooting his wife five times yesterday, Arnold Powell, 52, drove her to a nearby doctor and said, "Get her to a hospital quick or I'll kill you, too."

Just before shooting his wife, now in "fair" condition at a Tampa hospital, Powell went out back and shot his prize bird dog.

Sheriff's Deputy Ernest Culbreath and another officer went to the Powell home, but Powell refused to surrender.

HE TOLD Culbreath he would give up only to his personal attorney, H. Lane Coachman, of Tampa. Coachman, accompanied by William C. Pierce, a criminal attorney, went to the Powell house. The Rev. Gene Rutland, Methodist minister, went too.

Powell finally consented to be taken to jail. He collected personal belongings and wrote out checks as retainers for his attorneys. He also made a contribution to the Methodist church.

He then pulled his pistol and shot himself in the head.

Woman Takes Pistol To Court to Demand Justice; Gets Jailed

CHICAGO, June 13 (AP) — The landlady whose apartment building was wrecked in the suburban Cicero race rioting the past July went into court with a pistol and a demand "for justice" today and got a two-year jail sentence for contempt.

Police said they had a tip before Mrs. Samille de Rose arrived that she had a loaded pistol in her briefcase and had threatened to "shoot up the judge and the court" unless she got justice in an embezzlement charge she is pressing.

Criminal Court Judge Wilbert F. Crowley first sentenced her to one year in jail for bringing a loaded weapon into court.

He doubled the penalty when she screamed: "Give me life, I want to read Cicero landlady gets life for being a landlady."

MRS. de ROSE denied she had threatened to shoot anyone and said she carried the pistol for protection because she had been threatened.

On motion of her attorney, Aaron Payne, Crowley later set a hearing for June 23 to consider vacating the sentence and ordered a mental examination for the woman.

Mrs. de Rose appeared as a key prosecution witness against George C. Adams, Negro attorney indicted on an embezzlement charge in the purchase of a first mortgage for her on a West Side Chicago building a year ago. Mrs. de Rose claimed that after giving Adams the money, he failed to give her the mortgage, a trust deed or a refund.

She formerly owned the Cicero apartment building in which she rented living space to the family of Harvey Clark Jr., a Negro bus driver.

A mob of 5000 rioted in the all-white suburb for three days and National Guard troops finally were called out to restore order. Clark's furniture was burned and he never moved in.

The investigator said Monsour eventually sold the United States about 37 million dollars worth of such cotton.

Kruger National Park in South Africa has an estimated 500,000 game animals.

TIPHA WASPS RIDGING STATE OF JAP BEETLES

Colonies of Wasps Start To Cut Down Infestation: Beetle Grubs Devoured

HARRISBURG, June 13.—The efforts of agricultural scientists to rid Pennsylvania of Japanese beetles through use of tipha wasps are beginning to pay off.

Dr. Thomas L. Guyton, director of the State Bureau of Plant Industry, says wasp colonies are beginning to cut down beetle infestation in many areas.

The wasps are the beetles' natural enemies. The State has been using the wasps for the past several years to curb the beetle menace.

The female wasps deposit their eggs on beetle grubs in the ground. The wasp grub that develops then devours the beetle grub.

DR. GUYTON said a scarcity of the moths at the State breeding grounds near Harrisburg this year means a lack of beetle grubs, indicating that the band of heaviest beetle infestation has moved westward. The moth parasite follows migrating beetles.

Dr. Guyton said relatively few beetles should be found in southeastern Pennsylvania this year except in Franklin county and in parts of Lebanon county. Colonies of parasites were established in both the latter areas within the past several years. Dr. Guyton added, and should soon be of sufficient size to cut down beetle population in those sections.

Pennsylvania leads all other states in the number of tipha wasp colonies established to fight the Jap beetle with a total of 561.

One of the most unusual hitchhiking feats on record was discovered in Cheyenne, Wyo., when an expectant mother robin scared the daylight out of a filling station attendant by flying into his face when he raised an auto on a grassy rack. The auto had been driven 351 miles from Grand Island, Neb., by James McQuown, his wife and two children, Colleen (left), 4, and Kathleen, 5. The robin's nest, containing one egg (inset) was built under a fender. The bird clung tenaciously to her nest even over bumpy roads, but when the McQuowns resumed their trip to California, she had not returned to it.

THE RABIES outbreak among animals in Pennsylvania may be on the wane.

The State Agriculture department reports that only 20 cases of animals rabies were identified during May. This was half of the April total and less than one-third of the March score.

Four Calves Are Born To Holstein Named Elsie

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., June 13.—Veterinarians said recently that four calves born to Elsie, a grade Holstein, were as uncommon as human quadruplets.

The two bull and two heifer calves were born unattended Saturday on the C. A. Sprague farm, five miles south of Michigan City. They weigh 190 pounds altogether.

Spaces between tomato plants may be occupied by lettuce, radishes, spinach, early beets or carrots. These crops will be out of the ground before the tomato plants need the space.

Mulches Are Advised FFA Ends 3-Day Program For Control of Weeds In Flower Gardens

Summer time is weeding time in the flower garden. One way to control weeds, points out County Agent R. G. Waltz, is to use mulches. Such materials as peat moss, crushed corn cobs, chopped leaves, grass clippings and newspaper make an excellent mulch.

Summer time is also seeding time. Seeds of biennials and perennials can be planted in early June. Examples of biennials are hollyhocks, sweetwilliams, foxglove and Canterbury bells. Perennial seed should be sown in a cold frame if possible, otherwise an open seed bed is suitable.

Seeds sown in the open ground will germinate better when covered with a layer of sphagnum moss, sand, or finely sifted soil. Never cover the seed with a layer thicker than the diameter of the seed. Small seed can't push through a heavy layer of soil.

Soil preparation for flower gardens should consist of mixing well rotted cow manure or humus, lime, and chemical fertilizer into the soil.

Start staking all tall plants in flower borders. Use soft cord and don't bind it too tight.

New Conditioning Agent Is Called Krillium; Improves Soil Structure, Controls Erosion

In response to a number of inquiries on Krillium, a new soil conditioning agent developed by a leading chemical concern, County Agent R. G. Waltz states that tests greenhouses, home gardens, land-scape work, and for specialty crop production. Once commercial production increases, the price may come down.

The right amount of Krillium to apply is not definitely known. Good results have been obtained with amounts varying from 300 to 2000 pounds per acre mixed in to a depth of 6 inches. Large amounts were purposely used in the preliminary tests.

So far, on some heavy soils, corn yields have increased 15 bushels per acre, oats 40 percent, and marketable carrots 21 percent. Potatoes did not show yield increases but dug more easily and were cleaner.

Krillium can be bought at present on a trial package basis. It costs about $2 a pound. This makes it too expensive for general field use, but possibly not for nurseries, greenhouses, home gardens, landscape work, and for specialty crop production. Once commercial production increases, the price may come down.

This material, a yellowish white powder, is applied to the surface of the soil and worked into the first 4 to 6 inches of the topsoil.

Stanley Gesell, extension entomologist of Pennsylvania State college, recommends dusting or spraying with toxaphene or chlordane.

Your cheapest feed is grass!

A representative of the United States Department of Agriculture has estimated that a field of grass and legumes can supply up to a third more total digestible nutrients—and considerably more protein—than if planted to corn and feed grain.

- You can change from hay to corn, or back, in only a few minutes, with 15 bars.
- Protective shields to prevent injury from harrowing, prevents jamming.
- Four knife flywheels for clearing, and extra one action.
- 6 cutting lengths, 1 1/2" to 4".
- Blades can be removed without stopping adjustment of other features.

Material Developed For Killing Ants in Lawns and Gardens

Ants should no longer be a problem to the home gardener. In lawns, flower beds or even rock gardens they can be eliminated by the use of chlordane, one of the newer ant-insect compounds available under various trade names.

In past days, an ant-infested lawn usually entailed the use of carbon disulfide or calcium cyanide, a deadly poison which has to be handled carefully.

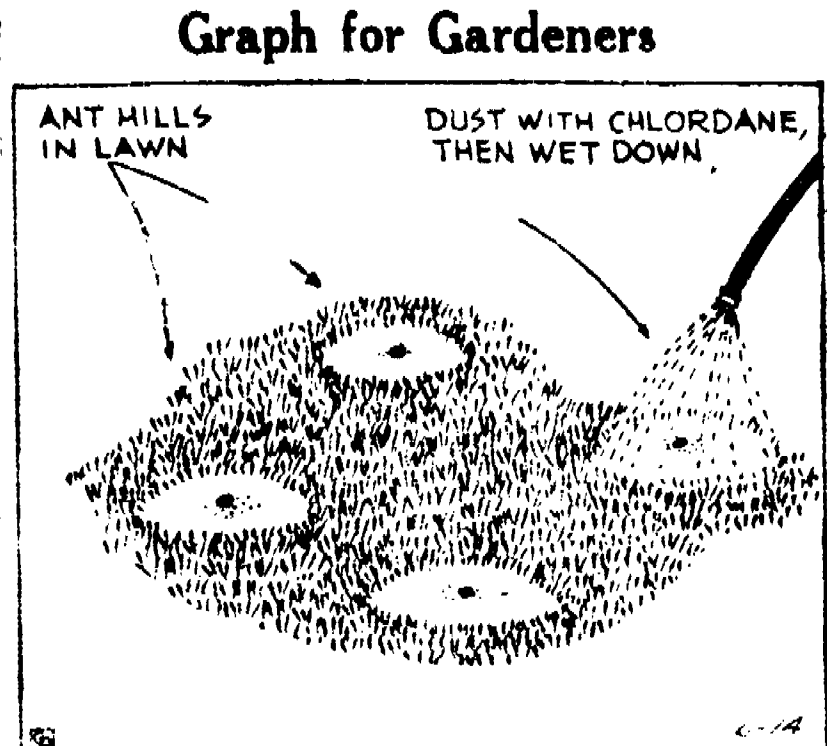

Today, one only needs to dust chlordane over the ants' nests, then wet the compound down with spray from a hose, as shown in the accompanying graph. One thorough treatment should be enough for an entire season.

Chlordane is also effective against wireworms, white grubs, Japanese beetle grubs, root maggots on radishes, onions and cabbage.

WORK THE compound into the top two or three inches of soil when preparing the seed beds. One pound of the 5 percent dust is enough to treat 600 to 700 square feet of ground. It remains effective for the entire season.

The preparation also can be used to discourage nematodes on cabbage, tomatoes or other seedling plants that are being transplanted. Dust a little chlordane into the holes before setting the plants into the soil.

Chlordane dusted lightly upon flowers, shrubs or other ornamental plants will control grasshoppers, thrips and various plant bugs. After a rain repeat the dusting.

Feed Bills Sliced by Marketing Roosters

A saving of 40 to 50 cents a bird can be marketed immediately at the month at present food prices can close of the breeding season.

The brooding males saved should be given range away from the rest of the birds. When the males are first thrown together, there will be some fighting but on range they will have an opportunity to get away from each other.

Their presence in the flock is not necessary for the satisfactory production of market eggs. Actually, fertile eggs—those produced by a flock in which there are males—will not keep so well as infertile eggs.

Only those males which are good enough to use another year should be saved. The rest should be marketed.

Report Tells Of Grassland Plan in State

Now a State wide grassland program, like the one now under way for 1952, highlighted the whole Agricultural and Home Economics Extension program the past year, as told in "New Horizons" 1951 extension report, points out County Agent R. G. Waltz.

The grassland program stressed better farm forages, and better diets, which are made possible through a resulting increase in animal products.

"Response to this educational effort was spontaneous and substantial. Some 30,000 persons used the reports in 1951. Farmers and homemakers, with nessed scores of demonstrations at five grassland field days."

Do not wait until insects damage lead your crops before you begin to fight them. You can prevent the cheap insecticide to use fresh and natural if you begin in time.

Cattle may be poisoned when they eat the grass which has been treated with the insecticide. Keep out of the garden when the plants are being treated with the insecticide. Keep out of the garden when the plants are being treated with the insecticide.

Pruning Evergreens Can Still Be Done

Early season pruning is better than late season pruning. It is still time to cut and shape evergreens down to size. Such decorative shrubs and foundation plantings as yew, arbutus, and holly can be pruned now. They have the happy chance for starting new growth from comparatively old wood.

Pruning should begin in the perennials border and rose garden as soon as they are uncovered so as to keep the soil and destroy overwintering insects.

Araujo Tops King On Split Decision

NEW YORK, June 13 (AP)—George Araujo, fast-rising young lightweight prospect, won a widely-hooped split decision over Arthur King, counter-punching spider, tonight at Madison Square Garden. Araujo weighed 135 1/2, King 136 1/2.

The juries of the small crowd of 2566 paying $6634 drowned out the announcement of a following prize after the decision was announced, giving Araujo his 30th straight triumph.

Referee Pete Scalzo voted for Araujo 6-4 and judge Bert Grant 5-4 in favor of the little jumping jack from Providence, R. I. Judge Joe Angelo found King out front 6-4. The AP card had King on top 5-4.

Giants Pay 35¢ For Hal Gregg, Oakland Hurler

THERE WERE no knockdowns in the struggle between the two Negro batters with King's snakey left jab and accurate counter hook to the jaw matching the wild but continuous stream of punches from the New Englander.

King, a 2-1 underdog who upset highly-ranked Paddy DeMarco in his last start, almost pulled off his second successive surprise win. Although puffed around both eyes from Araujo's hard fists his shots were more accurate. The 25-year-old King from Toronto countered beautifully while Araujo tried to swarm inside his flicking jab to carry on his usual Tommy-gun attack.

Nino Valdez, 26 1/2, Havana Giant, opened up in the sixth round after a sluggish start and knocked out Jimmy Walker, 192, Orange, N. J., in 1:26 of the sixth round of the semi-final fight.

Valdez rocked Walker with a right to the head and drove him into the ropes with a left-right combination. A final right dropped him on his back on the ring apron. They sat Walker on a stool just outside the ropes as they worked over him after the knockout.

The 6-foot-3-inch Valdez shook off Walker's best shots and man-handled his man as he set him up for the knockout.

Valdez's best shots and man-handled his man as he set him up for the knockout.

ELKS WIN

beat out a hunt to load the bases. Dave Ricketts, ignoring bench advice, then lashed into a 3-0 pitch and slammed it down on the plate. The ball bounced 25 feet in the air as pitcher Mull camped under it. His throw home for a force on Kulp was in time but Johnson neglected to touch the plate.

Duke Herman at second then kicked away Len Trolinger's bouncer and the fourth run crossed. Dick Ricketts skied to the infield, but Manger delivered his second hit of the round, a bunt that scored Barber.

Mull then balked to move Dave Ricketts across the plate and touch off another rowdy discussion. This one apparently granted the Flagg catcher's nerves, and on the next pitch to Howard he permitted a high pitch to sail through and thump against ump Will Stevens' chest protector.

The ball bounded away and Trolinger raced in just before Howard skied to center to end the picnic.

THE REMAINDER of the Elks runs were lagniappe. Dave Ricketts rocketed a liner to deep left for four sacks in the fourth after Kulp's double behind a walk to Lee Hallman produced a singleton in the third. Singles by Trolinger and Dick Ricketts and a pair of errors got two more in the sixth. Flagg stirred a mild rally when Kulp eased up in the sixth and seventh and his defense unbuckled a peg or two.

Bill Sandoe, breaking in with Flagg, ground singled with one out in the sixth, and after Johnson walked, Harv Sheetz slammed a liner to left. Len Ricketts mis-played the ball and it rolled all the way to the school building for a three-base, three-run error.

In the seventh singles by Edwards and Sandoe produced a final tally.

IN AN act of mercy, Manager Rill Barber of the Elks cleared most of his bench in the late rounds. A total of 14 winners saw action.

Barber left bench jockey in chief Head Coach Lowell (Red) Dawson in the stalls, however, son said Micholosen will be the to keep the propaganda department all-over defensive coach at the university.

U. S. Cops Three Wightman Tests

WIMBLEDON, England, June 13 (AP)—The United States won the first three matches of the best-of-seven Wightman Cup tennis series today and made it virtually certain that the trophy will go back to America as it has for the past 21 years.

Doris Hart of Coral Gables, Fla., started the winning parade with a 6-3, 6-3 verdict over Mrs. Jean Rinkel. Then 17-year-old Maureen Connolly of San Diego, Calif., outlasted Mrs. Jean Walker-Smith, 3-6, 6-1, 7-5.

Finally, Miss Hart and her long-time buddy, Shirley Fry of Akron, Ohio, defeated Mrs. Rinkel and left-handed Helen Fletcher, 8-6, 6-4, in the doubles.

Micholosen Signed As Grid Assistant To Dawson at Pitt

PITTSBURGH, June 13 (AP)—Johnny Micholosen, who was head coach of the Pittsburg Steelers of the National Football league the last four years, was named today as assistant football coach at the University of Pittsburgh.

With the Steelers, Micholosen made $12,500 a year. Terms of his one-year contract with Pitt were not announced.

Head Coach Lowell (Red) Dawson in the stalls, however, son said Micholosen will be the to keep the propaganda department all-over defensive coach at the university.

Instructions for Middies

Here's Rusty Callow, coach of the Navy crew, shouting instructions to his boys as they prepare for the Onondaga Regatta, June 21. Eleven colleges will be fighting it out this year at Lake Onondaga, near Syracuse, N. Y. Navy and California, both undefeated, have been established as co-favorites.

Rodenberger, 11 Others Seek Repeat at Sanatoga

Quakertown's Dick Rodenberger, having stopped a string of five victories by Reading drivers at Sanatoga Speedway, will be out to sever another skein this evening—that of 12 races without a repeat winner this year at the Pottstown track.

The closest any member of the local racing association has come to a double was Bob Roland's conquest in the Memorial day race at Reading following right on the heels of a victory in a Wednesday Sanatoga stock show.

However, no driver has won more than one feature at the local track during the current season. The list of feature victors thus far this year who will be vying with Rodenberger for the distinction of the first to record a pair of wins numbers among its members Jim Ryan, Harv MacDonald, Buck Grandy, Jack Rudy, Mose Moore, Mike (Snakey) Knappenberger, Harry Moore, Roland, Red Lesher and Curt Sherman.

ALL OF THOSE gentlemen are highly-ranked in the standings of the Pottstown Stock Car Racing association. However, the current leader, Monk Kellar, has yet to annex a 25-lap nod. Blackie Reiner, another crowd-pleasing favorite of long standing, is in the same boat.

Ben Hogan Takes Charge in Open Golf

DALLAS, June 13 (AP)—He's a dappered 32-year-old, six-foot-two, 170-pounder. The National Open golf tournament erupted today under the chip of its master and grim Ben Hogan, who led with a record-setting score of 136.

Fazio, his second straight one under par 69 over Northwood's Jawe Warshaw, 1947 open, then son's second fairways. The 1120 pion Horton Smith, 44-year-old, topped little champion matched the president of the Professional Golf Association, and Ed (Porky) Oliver, the round lamper from the second was set by Sam Snead, Lemont, Ill.

In 19's over the Riviera course at Las Angeles, where Hogan latched rancher who had an opening to the first of his string of three tied a 74 for 114, which placed championship. He missed 1949 him in a tie with Clarence Dover, a critical automobile of Hartsdale, N. Y.

Today's brilliant effort in the eyes of most observers, reduced the 162 man field to one, since they saw there will be no catching the bant in battle from Fort Worth in tomorrow's 36-hole showdown.

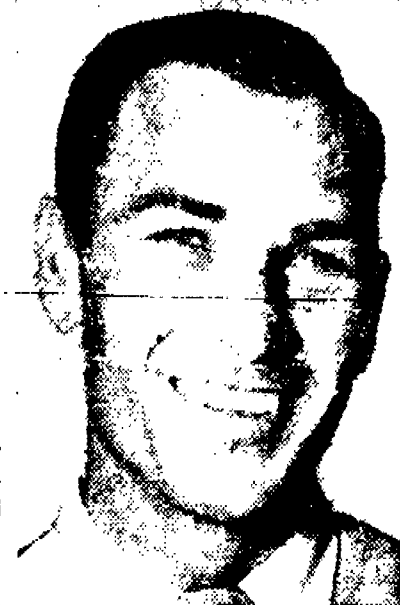

Closest man to the champion, two strokes away at 139, was George Fazio, a budding 35-year-old part-time pro from Clementon, N. J., who snatched Hogan's 69 to become one of three able to crack Northwood's tough par 70 during the humid, windy day.

The other was tall John Bulla of Verona, Pa., twice runnerup in the British Open, who had the best second round, a sizzling 68—for third place at 141.

HOGAN'S perennial links rival, sweet-swinging Sam Snead, wilted under the hot Texas sun and mounting pressure to take a 75 five over par, which put him seven strokes out of first place.

The first day wonder, bespectacled Al Broese of Garden City, N. Y., also found his second tour a bumpy one as he blew to a 79 after an opening 68 for 147.

This 32nd open continued to be Northwood's flat across, hitting a picnic for the sport's forthright roughs. Traps and overshooting date, old guard with Julius Boros the green. But he came back spectacularly threatening, and curly to sink puas ranging from at Abington High.

High Street Should Be Zoned for Business

Reasons High Street Now

To the Editor: About the argument about whether that funeral home should be permitted to move into the old Potts home in the "700" block of High street, I think it is about time that the whole of High street was re-zoned for business.

If borough council would do this fairly soon, the change could be made while most of the High street properties are in good shape.

If they wait and wait, many of the old homes will go steadily downhill, and when the change is finally made (as it must be eventually) we are going to get a lot of cut-rate businesses there that will not be a credit to the town's main thoroughfare.

Pottstown MIDTOWN RESIDENT

Roots for Funeral Director

To the Editor: I have been reading with great interest Mr. Fleischmann's plans to open a funeral home on High street. I do hope he is allowed to go through with it. It is unbelievable to me that there should be any opposition to it. Death is a natural process—the ceasing of the functions of the organs of the body. Our religions teach it is the way our souls finish our preparation on earth for a fuller life beyond.

This happens to everyone. The greatest doctors in the world cannot prevent it. No one can snub death and get away with it.

There is no great stigma about having a residence next to a funeral home. That thought suggests immaturity, a lack of another good excuse.

One of the main functions of a funeral home is that of a place of worship. Services of all denominations are held there. Of course there is a less aesthetic side to death but isn't there with any phase in this life?

Most funeral homes are very beautiful places. The directors bring comfort to the bereaved. Our neighborhood funeral home adds far more than it can possibly detract.

We all know the houses on that block are very large. To most of us in this economy, they are white elephants. Wouldn't it be better to have a quiet house there than an apartment house with 20 or more people moving about in and out.

It would mean more cars coming and going than in most funeral corteges. Corpses are very considerate neighbors. They won't yelp when the party gets too loud and they mind their own business.

Commerce is the passing of money for deserved tangibles or intangibles. What is more commercial than a doctor's office—or The Hill school for that matter?

Ridgway vs. MacArthur

To the Editor: Gen. Ridgway told the United States Senate how he took over the retreating Eighth Army and in one month had it on the offensive, dishing it out in a way that Mao and his Red cohorts will never forget.

Gen. MacArthur sent this Army into a trap that resulted in the most humiliating defeat inflicted on an American army.

MacArthur came home and was given the greatest acclamation ever accorded an American.

Ridgway came home and left for his assignment in Europe practically unnoticed. What fools we mortals be!

Long May It Wave

EVEN DEMOCRATS and Republicans making faces at each other in the heat of a presidential campaign will agree that the flag of the United States of America is one of the prettiest sights in the world.

Whether it waves over an embassy or flutters from the window of a skyscraper or parades up Fifth avenue on a sunny day, the red-white-and-blue that means America is a fine and cheering symbol. If you don't feel sentimental about it on this Flag Day, try thinking of another flag under which you'd like to live.

Benjamin Franklin

THE FIRST FLAG flown by the colonists on this soil was born in 1754 when Benjamin Franklin proposed a flag to symbolize union. His design was a snake cut into 13 pieces to represent the colonies, with the inscription: "Unite or Die."

The State of Pennsylvania had a banner more nearly representing our eventual flag—13 stripes in red and white. On June 14, 1777, Congress passed a resolution that the official flag of the United States be "13 stripes, alternately red and white; that there be 13 stars, white on a blue field, representing a new constellation."

Perhaps Betsy Ross didn't actually make the first U. S. flag, but that's the best version of the story and most of us like it. Mrs. Ross—and it was Betty, not Betsy—was a widow living on Mulberry street in Philadelphia, supporting herself and her children by sewing.

According to the tale that has come down through the years, she was sitting at her window playing her needle one day when a detachment of Virginia troops passed by. A few minutes later Gen. George Washington stepped up to her door, showed her a rough sketch of the flag which Congress had decided upon earlier that day, and asked her if she could make it.

She agreed, made a suggestion for a change in the design—she thought the six-pointed stars should be made five-pointed, to differ from the stars in the British flag—and proceeded to whip up the first U. S. flag. Even the legend-makers have never been able to decide who drew the original design for the stars and stripes.

ALL SCHOOL children know the meaning of the flag's component parts: the stars represent a new constellation rising in the West, the blue background was borrowed from the Scots' Covenanters' Banner, they having been the original rebels against England, and the 13 stripes represented the original colonies.

When Francis Scott Key wrote "The Star Spangled Banner" in 1794, Vermont and Kentucky had joined the Union, and the flag had 15 stars and 15 stripes. But Congress soon thereafter decided adding a stripe for each state would make the flag look too complicated, so the original number of stripes were kept, and a star added for each new state.

The foreign flag that most resembles ours is that of Liberia. It, like the constitution of Liberia, was copied from our own by the group of freed Negro slaves who founded the African republic in 1822.

FLAGS USED TO play an important role on every battlefield, but modern war tactics have changed that; since World War II the flag has been displayed most usually at field headquarters, only occasionally during landings on enemy beaches. Of course, as soon as an important position or city is captured, the flag is rushed to the spot and raised.

A soldier in the Korean fighting wrapped it up in the simplest way when he said, "When you're far from home, nothing looks better than the flag."

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

ALFRED R., 18, is a slender, sensitive boy.

"Dr. Crane, the whole family is worried about him," his married sister informed me. "For we have just learned that he is a homosexual."

"He never did go with girls but always was greatly devoted to the athletic boys in his class."

"But now we have learned the truth, and Mother is prostrated with grief and shame."

"Is it ever possible for a homosexual to change into a normal individual?"

YES, IT IS entirely possible. Indeed, by means of this column and the mail service, I have helped many homosexuals of both sexes alter their personalities until they reacted normally again.

But the victim must have a strong desire to change! Outsiders can't perform the change for him any more than they can cure a chronic alcoholic.

Suppose a boy falls ardently in love with a girl and is simply crazy about her. He may actually feel that life wouldn't be worth living without her.

But suppose his parents suddenly tell him that he must give up the girl entirely, arguing that she would be a bad influence on his personality and would ultimately bring him unhappiness.

Would the boy give her up? Well, that is much the same type of decision that faces the homosexual. Only he is just as ardently attached to a member of his own sex.

At birth we have the potential instinct or tendency to love. But whom we shall love, is purely a matter of chance or environmental conditioning.

Normally, we fasten our affections first on our parents. In fact, some people never get over this early parental fixation. Thus, they never marry, for mamma or papa dominates their affections all their lives.

But at the age of nine or 10, we shift our allegiance to our own sex. This is the "gang" stage or truly homosexual level of emotional development.

At this age, boys then prefer boys and abhor girls. They ban the latter from their secret meetings.

The girls, in turn also disdain boys. They worship their own sex as being far superior to the opposite sex.

Normalcy is simply a statistical term indicating that at least 51 percent of people follow such a pattern.

And the normal person, by the middle teens, has turned his attention to the opposite sex when romance is involved. Normal people are thus heterosexual instead of homosexual.

Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, June 13 — While Don Taylor is busy starring in "Pleasure Island," his young wife, Phyllis Avery, who's been off-screen for quite a while, will play a featured role in "Ruby Gentry" with Jennifer Jones, Karl Malden and Charlton Heston.

Heston has to finish in a hurry. Because he joins Rhonda Fleming, Jan Sterling and Forrest Tucker at Kanaab, Utah, June 20, for his starring in "Pony Express" . . . So what else is new?

Well, voluptuous Cleo Moore, recently in "Tyrone Power's Wife," paints quite well as amateurs paint. She's just put the finishing touches on a life-sized nude of herself. Cleo admits it's better than a Michael Angelo . . . Tempus fugit! Columbia studio, where the Saturday Evening Post story, "Young Ames" will be made, is searching for a young Gary Cooper to play it.

BEST NEWS in ages is that talented Richard Hayda gets a fat part in "Never Let Me Go," the Clarke Gable opus starting in London end of June. Hayda will play Gene Tierney's pater. Gene has already left for foreign shores . . . Eve Arden joins Dennis O'Keefe and Ruth Hussey in "The Lady Wants Mink" at Republic. (Or anywhere else!) . . . Not a word of truth to the elsewhere-itemed baloney about Vera Rudnik being on the RKO payroll to keep Robert Newton sober while he's starring in "Blackbeard the Pirate." She's here from N. Y. because he's been torching so for the gal ever since their engagement was broken. What will come of the visit, is anyone's guess.

METRO WON'T be making "The Making of a Marine" until winter, so Robert Taylor will have to cut his Mexican fishing trip short to return here pronto. He stars "Vaquero" at above-studio in two weeks . . . Susan Clothier, Paramount's lovely French import, acting gaga with Charles Mauit at La Rue. The Donald O'Connor, Lana Turner and Fernando Lamas, the David Waynes, others glimpsed . . . Lew Ayres and Hildy Parks, Jackie Cooper's ex, are getting serious . . . John Payne will have his two kids, who's Ma is Gloria de Haven, with him the rest of the Summer. Gloria has a cafe tour to complete — and a movie on tap . . . ★ MONUMENT to the engineering skill of many a Pottsonian who daily pours over a South Keim street drawing board, a pillar to the brawn of the steelworkers who used templet, rivet and argon in the long Bethlehem Steel shops is the spectacular Chesapeake Bay bridge where the final span was hoisted into place a few days ago. Pottstown's brainiest bridge builders, George Bullard, Mike Matlock, Lew Williams et al, were down in Maryland that day with their wives to see this monument to Pottstown which spans the waist of America's Mediterranean. Today it's only a four-mile skeleton of steel and concrete, 20 stories above wrinkled water. But this Summer, where road crews today are putting a surface on the $44,000,000 highway in the sky, traffic will roll across for the first time and Maryland's long-separated "shores" will be joined. . . .

THE NEW BRIDGE, which will carry motorists from Sand Point near Annapolis on the "mainland" to the eastern shore in six or seven minutes, is expected to work many changes on the Chesapeake. Ever since Capt. John Smith's day, the salty inlet has been a concourse for coastwise and oceangoing traffic. But for landlubbers following the Atlantic coast north or south by road or rail, Chesapeake bay has meant either a detour or a long slow ferry hop. On Keat island, eastern abutment for the new bridge, William Claiborne once established a self-styled barony around the first Indian trading post on the Chesapeake. He and his "Kenish men" fought a minor rebellion to keep Lord Calvert's colonists from claiming the island for Maryland. . . .

★ THE PEOPLE of Delmarva, quiet three-state peninsula shared by Maryland, Delaware and Virginia, still live in proud isolation. From the peninsula's rich farms and truck gardens, oyster beds and fish wharves, tons of food go each day to the markets of the "foreigners" who live in Pottstown and New York, Baltimore and Washington. But until now, main travel routes have largely bypassed Delmarva
